Farm Scrap Iron and Steel Will Help Our Defense Effort

"Have you turned your farm scrap into cash? Move it out of the fields now. Take a load to town and sell it on your next trip. It is needed to make steel for the defense program. It is a vital material and must not be allowed to waste away."

Many farmers have responded to that appeal recently, says the Committee on Iron and Steel Scrap, American Iron and Steel Institute. Those farmers have made a little money and gained space in their fields. The scrap is being put to use instead of being abandoned to rust and ruin.

But more farm scrap is needed. Steel output can't be increased without a big supply of scrap. With winter coming on, when scrap is more difficult to find, the situation is truly critical. More scrap must be obtained from farms in order to make more steel.

Old tools, wornout parts of tractors, trucks, cultivators and other implements; broken and discarded pieces of metal and other scrap should be taken to town and sold right away to the local scrap dealer. Every pound of scrap which comes back to steel mills helps to make two pounds of new steel, on the average.

If the scrap is unusually bulky, preventing its easy transportation by the farmer, the scrap dealer can be called or the local farm agent can be asked to work out an arrangement.

"Farms are one of the big sources of scrap," says the Committee. "Never have farmers had a greater stake in the nation's steel output."

Harvest your iron and steel scrap right away. Turn it into cash. Do your part to aid the defense program.

How to make good telephone service even better...

Give your friends time to answer

How often have you had someone hang up just as you answered the telephone? It isn't always possible, you know, to get to the telephone the moment it rings—the folks you are calling may be out enjoying their garden, or busy in some distant part of the house. You'll reach them more often... and avoid the disappointment of an incompleting call if you give them a full minute to answer.

faster Long Distance service is yours, if you give the operator the out-of-town telephone number, rather than just the name and address of the party you are calling. You'll not only save your time... but calling by number means better service for everyone, especially now when long distance lines are carrying so many urgent industrial and military calls.
