4-H Achievement Week

Last Friday over 200 4-H club members, leaders and advisors met at an achievement party to commemorate the end of a club year, lay plans for the coming year and to receive awards won by the members for diligent work during the past 12 months. Their dinner was held as a part of the celebration of 4-H Achievement Week, a week set aside to give national recognition to these boys and girls and the programs they undertake and complete.

The value of the 4-H clubs cannot be measured in dollars and cents—though to many of the members there is a very real monetary meaning to the program when it comes time to sell a prize animal or a piece of handwork. The main value, however, is in the training and education these boys and girls get in many lines from their participation in this voluntary program. 4-H work is not something they HAVE to do—it is something they WANT to do, and a good share of credit must also go to the club leaders and other directors who work to provide the club members with projects that are of interest as well as of educational benefit.

The 4-H club program in Morrow county deserves the support of every resident. Any program that can create the desire in a boy or girl to want to learn is a program of outstanding merit.

Morrow county's program is not the largest in the state, but for the year just ending 179 4-H club members worked on or completed 259 separate projects, a mighty fine record we feel. All who had a part deserve congratulations and continued support.

PRIMARY ELECTION RECAP

Among all the states Oregon is the center piece of political window dressing just now.

Last week Murray Snyder political writer for the New York Herald Tribune called Oregon the "political barometer state," and said Dewey and Stassen put Oregon on the map politically in their knockdown primary battle in 1948.

Commentator Marquis Childs in one of his recent columns said Oregon republicans got the credit for giving Dewey the boost that won him the nomination at Philadelphia in 1948.

Editors, cartoonists, columnists, commentators, all across the country are keeping a sharp focus on the Oregon primary campaign.

The filing deadline for candidates who would have their names on the primary ballot is less than four months away. The nominating election date is May 16. Candidates must qualify 70 days before that date.

Here at the capital we hear many persons mentioned as potential candidates, for president, Sen. James H. Duff, republican, former governor of Pennsylvania has a strategic position as top booster for Gen. Dwight Eisenhower. If the general emphatically declines to run it would leave Duff as the principal opponent of Sen. Robert A. Taft for the republican presidential nomination. Also in this mulling are names of Rep. Wherry, Senator Hickenlooper, California's Gov. Warren, our Sen. Morse and always Dewey, who they say is not opposed to taking a chance of becoming a third time loser.

On the democratic side a new name takes emphasis, Senator Brian McMahon, Conn., chairman of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy. You will hear plenty about him besides his nickname, Mr. Atom. President Truman could not properly be called a dark horse. Sen. Paul Douglas, Ill., and Justice William O. Douglas would make a phonetic state—Douglas and Douglas.

There are more people mentioned for state treasurer than there are periods in a linotype machine. The most acceptable are Sen. Howard Belton, defeated by a heavy vote in North Portland when he ran against Walter Pearson; Sigfrid Unander who lost to Belton in the 1948 primaries; Tom Lawson McCall, Gov. McKay's secretary; Senators Frederick Lampert and Jack Lynch, legislative veterans; Ormond Bean, also defeated in primaries by Sen. Belton and Sen. Dean Walker, another legislative veteran who like Sen. Belton is a past president of the Senate and chairman of the ways and means committee. All these are republicans. No democrats talked of except Sen. Thomas Mahoney. If you are a republican do not discount his campaigning ability.

ACCODEADE FOR HEALY

Word was received at the capitol this week that William Healy, assistant secretary of state, has been named president of the newly formed National Resources League.

The main purpose of the League are the production and wise development of the natural resources, expansion of Oregon's industrial economy, and a more careful scrutiny of the expenditure of the tax dollar.

McKAY IN PRIMARIES

Governor Douglas McKay has announced his candidacy as a delegate at large to the republican national convention. He also is a candidate for the chairmanship of the 18-man Oregon delegation.

If McKay is elected and serves he will be the first state official from Oregon at the convention for 24 years. Secretary of State Sam Kozer was the last in 1928.

WORKERS' EARNINGS RISE

Workers in eighty-four per cent of the industries of Oregon showed an uptrend in September according to a report just released by the state unemployment accident commission.

The logging shutdown decrease in employment was replaced by employment in canneries. The recent pay raise for machinery workers and considerable overtime boosted their average earnings to $86.76 a week.

WANT STATE DRY

Directors of the anti-liquor league have decided to put a measure on the election ballot for state-wide prohibition.

Boardman Garden Club Holds Meet

By Flossie Coats

The Boardman Garden Club met Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Claud Coats with Mrs. Arnold Hoffmann as co-hosts. Fifteen members and two visitors were present. Roll call was answered with a Thanksgiving tradition. Mrs. Clayton Waldron gave a report on pruning. The December meeting will be at Mrs. Nate Maccombers.

Darrell Marlow was the first local man to bring home an elk, which dressed out two hundred twenty pounds. Others in the party was his brother Harold and Douglas Callif.

The Tillicum Club had a Halloween costume party at the school house for all school children Wednesday evening. Prizes were awarded to the following: Ralph Smith and Lorna Shannon, best boy and girl team; Cutest costume, Little Gwendolin Fustell; best original, Gale Turner; funniest, Sharon Duncan; ugliest, Michael Duncan. The party was enjoyed by all the children. This party did away with the many trick or treaters, with the exception of the wee, cute pre-school age group, which are welcome little tykes in their masks and costumes.

Miss Ruth Studer, high school teacher spent the weekend in Portland with her family.

Mrs. Walter Turner left for Portland Friday for a few days with relatives.

Miss Martha Tapanainen, the County Health Nurse was in Boardman Thursday.

Mr. J. O. Agee received word that his brother A. A. Agee is in temperance measures so long and seem to get nowhere, so we decided to give up the control idea and come out with a direct prohibition measure." George Smith Brown, league director said. He said petitions will soon be circulated to put the measure on the ballot.
