How to make good telephone service even better....

You won't miss important calls when you answer promptly. When you have only two cards left to play in an exciting grand slam hand—or in any situation where you'd like to say "Wait a minute!"—it's always a temptation not to answer the telephone immediately. The person calling, though, doesn't know what you're doing, and may hang up, thinking you are not at home. That way, you may miss important calls. So, next time your phone rings, won't you try to answer as quickly as you can?

faster long distance service can be yours if you always give your call to the operator by number... rather than by name and address. That way, you see, you won't have to wait while she finds out the number from "Information" in the distant town you are calling.

Possible Upward Trend Forecast For Dairy Prices

A word of caution about beef cattle projects and a note of encouragement for dairymen is being sounded in a new Oregon agricultural situation and outlook circular sent out to many Morrow County Livestock Growers this week reports N. C. Anderson, the County Agent.

Extension Economist M. D. Thomas of Oregon State College says recent beef cattle prices are favorable to cattlemen already operating. He adds, though, that high prices are putting many new operators into the business.

This means more competition in the years ahead for both old and new operators, Thomas says, emphasizing that while a decline in consumer incomes is not in sight, such a development would have drastic effect on beef prices.

Scanning the dairy situation, the circular notes that milk prices have increased less than half as much as beef cattle during the past 30 years. Yet signs of encouragement are seen in the changing milk supply and demand. The state's population has increased considerably during the past 15 years while milk production has dropped off.

Today, more bottled milk is sold and less surplus is available for butter and cheese. Should milk supplies continue to decline, Thomas says, pressure for price rises will increase.

Farm milk prices would have to climb about 8 percent nationally before ceiling price regulations go into effect, the report shows.

Outlook for sheep flocks is good but hogs are not sharing in high prices like other meat animals. While Oregon production has dropped, national production this year ranks close to the 1943 all-time high.
