Plays Given By Lexington School

By Delpha Jones

The Lexington High school gave two plays last Tuesday night. This was a contest between the freshmen and sophomores and juniors and seniors. The first play given by the Juniors and seniors was The Automatic Man with the following characters: Lois Wilson, played by Shirley Hunt; Annebely, the maid, played by Maureen Groves; Albert Wilson, Louis' brother, Franklin Miles; James Buttermilk an inventor, Earl Miller, and Colin Buttermilk's invention Eugene (Butch) Sawyer. The place was the Wilson's living room. This play was an uproarious comedy and well presented. As there are only three juniors and one senior Earl Miller, Maureen Groves a 7th grade girl was imported for the maid's part and she was very fine in her part. Director for this one was Mrs. Breeding and properties Eugene Wardell. Between plays Cyrus Balsler the 7th and 8th grade teacher gave two fine readings.

"The Greener Grass" was the second play given by the freshman and sophomores. The characters were as follows: George Wright, the father, played by Asa Way; Alice Wright, the mother, Beverly Nolan; Ken Wright, 17 year old son, Larry Groves; Josephine Wright, 15 year old daughter, Darolene Balsler; Melis Wright, 12 year old daughter, Betty Messenger; John Aberlee, a friend of the Wrights, Bill Steagall; Mary Aberlee his wife, Phyllis Nolan. This play was also a comedy and very well presented, but in the judging the last play was the winner, thus making the first cast give a party to these winners. Director

The seniors have chosen their graduation announcements, cap and gowns and expect to send their orders in by Christmas. Instead of the white gowns worn last year they will wear royal blue gowns with gold tassels.

At the last Student Body meeting the students decided to send clothing to Korea as a project. A committee was appointed and the drive will be in full swing next week.

The matinee of the Junior Class was Mrs. Betty Hagerud, announcer Joan Breeding, Properties, Pat McMillan and sound effect, Bob Steagall.

The Three Links club bazaar held Saturday was well attended. At this time a lunch was served and their fancy work was disposed of.

Graveside services were held in the Lexington L. O. O. F. cemetery Tuesday afternoon at 2 p. m. for Loren Charles Leach, brother of Mrs. Ina Nickols of this city. The Rev. Louis Wetzel conducted the services. Mrs. Leach passed away in Walla Walla Dec. 1. He was born in the Willamette valley in 1881 and passed away at the age of 70 years. Funeral services were conducted earlier in the day in Walla Walla.

A potluck dinner was enjoyed at the C. C. Jones home last Tuesday, when the Three Link Club ladies met and worked on the fancy work for their bazaar. Those attending were: Mrs. Orris Padberg, Mrs. Wm. Smethurst, Mrs. W. E. McMillan, Mrs. A. F. Majeski, Mrs. Charles Buchanan, Mrs. Gene Majeski, Ida Buchanan and Mrs. Geo. Irvin. A guest for the afternoon was Mrs. Gene Cutsforth.

The finance committee of the Lillian C. Turner Smorgasbord met at the Gene Majeski home on Friday night and plans were completed for the Smorgasbord to be held in the Lexington grange hall on Dec. 15. Those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Ellwynne Peck and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Majeski.

Lexington Grange will be hostess to the other granges of the county Saturday night when there will be joint installation of officers. There will be a potluck dinner to start the evening at 6 p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Majeski were Pendleton visitors Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Cox from Provo, Utah are visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dee Cox and a brother Mr. and Mrs. Lester Cox.

play was given on Tuesday afternoon for the grade school children. The jury for the afternoon was selected from the seventh and eighth graders in the audience. The first "10" on the basketball squad went to Pendleton Saturday afternoon to see the Mac Hi, Grants Pass game. From there they went to the Arlington Jamboree to capture first place.

County School News Notes

Morrow county schools and some schools in western Umatilla county will hold a joint musical program sometime in March, it was decided Monday evening at Boardman when school officials from both of the counties met for a dinner and meeting.

Plans were laid for a special band event to be held at a date to be set later. Choral groups will hold an event of their own, to allow more time for each to perform. An exchange of band programs will be arranged among the various schools to acquaint the public with the music programs of the different schools.

Superintendent, Ed Elliott, of Umatilla will act as chairman of the music festival. Present for the meeting were superintendents and board members from Ione, Heppner, Irrigon, Boardman and Umatilla, and county superintendent Leslie Grant.

Mrs. Lavern Partlow, county delegate to the Oregon Educational delegate assembly left on Thursday for the state meeting being held this week at Reed college in Portland. She will report on the meeting Dec. 11, when Lexington will be host at the next regular meeting of the Morrow county division of O. E. A.

During the week of Dec. 10 Clyde Martin, secondary school supervisor for the state, will be here to check secondary schools and discuss school problems with school superintendents.

Coming Events—
Dec. 7-8, O. E. A. delegate assembly, Portland.
Dec. 7, Basketball Jamboree at Umatilla.

Dec. 11, Morrow division O. E. A. meeting at Lexington.
