Key to Good Health

Good food is one of the most important keys to good health. And of today's endless variety, one of the best foods to serve your family is oatmeal. In recent years scientists have confirmed what people have known for generations; that oatmeal is one of the finest foods in nutritive value.

Several recent scientific feeding experiments proved that oatmeal is far superior to other leading breakfast cereals in its protein value. Not only is oatmeal superior in the amount of protein, containing more protein than any of the other grains, but the growth-promoting value of that protein is also superior to all of the leading breakfast cereals.

Start your day with an oatmeal breakfast and take full advantage of such outstanding value. A real eye-opener that will "stick to your ribs" all through the morning is this tempting breakfast:

- Orange Juice Prune Oatmeal with Sugar and Cream Hot Cornmeal Muffins Better Coffee Milk

Serve oatmeal often for real economy too. It still costs less than a penny for an average serving. This old-fashioned, yet ever popular favorite, with its high quality protein, its iron and B vitamins will be an important key to good health for your family.
