Sam Coon Eyes Stockman's Seat

State Senator Sam Coon, Baker, has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Congress in the second Congressional (Eastern Oregon) district.

He will seek the position now held by Rep. Lowell Stockman, Republican who announced recently that he would not run in 1952.

Senator Coon has been referred to as the Rock of Gibraltar in the upper chamber because of his firmness of course when he reached a decision, and because of his faithful attendance, having never missed a session during the 116 days of the 1951 legislature.

During the last legislature the Eastern Oregon Senator served on four important committees and chaired the always spotlighted agricultural group. The financial affairs, roads and highways and the alcoholic traffic committee membership made Coon one of the busiest lawmakers at the last session. He is now serving, by appointment of Governor McKay, on the seven man Upper Columbia Basin Commission.

Always a resident of the Northwest, Coon was born in Boise in 1903. Banking and business occupied his early career after his graduation from the University of Idaho. In 1929 he purchased cattle ranch holdings in Baker County which have been gradually expanded by his own active endeavor until sold in 1950.
