You Can Help SAVE 10,000 LIVES - Maybe Your Own!

You—the man, woman or teen-ager behind the wheel—have a big responsibility!

In 1950, 35,000 persons were killed in traffic accidents. Last year there was an increasing crescendo of death on the highways—the worst fatality toll in a decade.

What can you do about it?

Your acts of safe driving are your contributions toward a greatly lessened death toll. Every time you lower your speed to stay within safe limits, drive more carefully at night and weather conditions demand extra care, stay in your own traffic lane and abide by all the rules of the road, you are contributing to greater highway safety. Being a safer driver is like giving blood for a transfusion to save a life. Taking a heedless chance may spill your blood—or someone's—and waste it on the highways.

10,000 lives to be saved in 1952 is a goal worth striving for by all who drive or walk. Even half that number saved would help stem the rushing tide of death on our highways. Don't ride with the reckless! Most drivers play fair and observe the traffic rules, but some—the speeders, cowboys, road hogs, drinking-drivers and chronic accident repeaters—must be forced to conform. Temptation to follow their bad examples means that more lives will become death statistics.

Be selfish with your own life—careful with the lives of others.

Drive As Though Your Life Depends On It . . . IT DOES!
