PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES

Within the past week three potential presidents of the United States were in Oregon's capital giving voters a preview of what they think should be done to save the country.

California's Governor Earl Warren accompanied by Mrs. Warren and two daughters, Nina and Virginia, were in Salem Friday.

At a republican rally in West Salem Governor Warren was introduced by Charles A. Sprague, publisher of the Oregon Statesman and former Oregon Governor. Mrs. Sprague introduced the Warren family.

Statements by Governor Warren that gained most applause were: "An administration that will cling to the constitution is one of the principal requisites of government; one that will stand strongly against Communism.

The people are entitled to rugged honesty in every branch of government.

These goals can be met only by complete reorganization of the government from stern to stern—something the democrats cannot and will not do."

On the same day another presidential aspirant, Harold E. Stassen, addressed an assembly of students and Salem citizens in Willamette University gymnasium. During his address and a question and answer period he declared:

"This nation cannot win a peace or win a war by depending solely on military strength.

America must be the champion of struggling people everywhere. It must be humanitarian and liberal in its approach to their problems.

An Academy of Diplomacy should be established.

Republicans must seek to advance freedom of the individual and the cultural progress of the nation. It must not be satisfied to just preserve a status quo either in the nation or the world."

Arriving in Salem Tuesday the agenda of Senator Estes Kefauver included three days of campaigning in Oregon.

A ballad rigged to the tune "The Bells of St. Mary's" is topping everything around the Capitol for political popularity. It goes:

Let's all vote for Kefauver the man from Tennessee;
"Let's all vote for Kefauver and preserve democracy;
Let's all remember he fought for TVT;
Let's all vote for Kefauver on state primary day.

REPUBLICANS LEAD IN STATE
Republicans recovered their lead in registered voters this year with 387,717 to 380,075 for the democrats. Two years ago the democrats had a lead of 8,537 in the primaries and 17,199 in the general election registrations.

Republicans now hold a lead in 22 counties and the democrats in 14.

OREGON SCHOOLS RATE HIGH
In the past four years only three schools in the United States have won Federal awards in two consecutive years. Two of these schools are in Oregon, the Englewood grade school in Salem and the elementary school in Burns.

These statements were verified by Kenneth Wells, president of Freedom Foundations who came to Salem this week to confer with you can help make a bigger and better fair).

Still have some of that deer or elk you canned last fall? Would make a nice exhibit. Also, those old hens you canned before the young chicks came. Surely could pick out some of those chicks for exhibits as pullets this fall.

The school exhibits show considerable talent. One thing that should be encouraged at all times. Hope you are all trying to do your best work every day for this fall's exhibits.

Hep-Hi HI LITES

By Eleanor Rice and Don Blake
Afton Eberhardt and Jim Prock were crowned King and Queen at the annual Junior-Senior Prom last Friday. They were chosen by popular vote of the student body.

The seniors were also honored at the Junior-Senior Banquet the same evening. John Mollahan, Junior Class president, gave the welcoming address and the response was given by Mickey Lanham, Senior Class president. Pat Peck played a piano solo followed by Mr. Leslie Grant who was the guest speaker.

The seniors have received their caps and gowns and are preparing for Baccalaureate and Commencement.

Echo and Heppner tennis teams met on our home court last Wednesday. Jim Smith, playing singles won his game and most of the others were very close.

"Talk of the Town", the one act play taken to the state contest at Pacific University, placed sixth out of the sixteen schools according to the report sent to Mr. Knight, Heppner director.

The juniors have returned from the "sneak" last Monday with bright red faces and shiny noses. The weather at Lehmen was perfect for a day of swimming, sun bathing and baseball.

Lynn Rill, Raymond Gonty, Jerry Haguewood, Jim Hayes, Al Parent, and Jim Green were initiated into the "H" Club last Thursday. The boys wore costumes during the afternoon, had a pie eating race, ate an onion and had a boxing match before they were proclaimed members of the club.
