4-H CLUB NEWS

Arrangements are well under way for sending Morrow County's 4-H delegation to Summer School which will be held at Oregon State College, June 17-27. While we have not yet had official word from the State 4-H club office on our quota, the 4-H Club Councils have selected delegates equal in number to last year with a few extra as alternates in case our quota is increased. Club members selected to go will be receiving a letter soon telling of their appointment.

Delegates to the 1952 4-H Summer School were selected following rules set up by the club Council. In order to be considered members must be at least 13 years of age, successfully completed two years of club work and completed all projects enrolled in the year before. Naturally there were many more club members with these qualifications than the quota allowed. Delegates were selected then by the quality of club work they were doing, meetings attended and their activities outside of the actual project work they are doing. This included such things as demonstrations participated in, judging teams, tours, and various other activities. Leaders had in mind eventually sending every deserving 4-H member to summer school, with the most deserving to go first.

In order to send our quota of 4-H Summer School delegates, scholarships, are needed. Scholarships that have been turned in to the county agent's office to date the prize winning steelhead fisherman, received his fishing gear from the Blue Mountain Mills last Monday. Danny's fish weighed ten pounds and one ounce.

Mrs. Mayde Ette Hinton had as her guests for lunch on Saturday, her father, Tom Throope, from Dayville and her sister Dorothy Shanks from The Dalles. Mr. Richard Cox from the Gilmore Ranch was attending to business matters in town last Wednesday.

Johnnie Stussi of Long Creek was greeting friends in Monument on Wednesday. He states that Mrs. Stussi is not in good health. They will go to Ashland this week for medical aid.

Mrs. Louisa Fleming attended a Mother's Day banquet in Prairie City last Wednesday. She was a guest of her daughter, Donna Lee Kimberling.

(1), Elks Lodge (1), First National Bank of Hermiston (1), Rhea Creek Grange (1), Lexington Oil Cooperative (1), Safeway Stores (1), Sandhollow - Buttercreek Livestock Club (1/2), Padberg Tractor Repair (1/4), Harry Dinges (1/4), Oral Wright Garage (1/4), Van Horn Grocery (1/4), Klinger Pastime (1/4).

Plans for 4-H Summer Camp, which will be continued this year after a successful start last year are well underway. The dates for the camp will be June 27, 28 and 29. Fred Mankin has donated the use of his Herron Creek Meadow again this year for the camp. Facilities will be expanded this year to take care of 50 campers. Thirty-seven attended last year. The program will be developed along the lines of last year with a Sunday picnic for all 4-H members, their parents and friends. Letters will be sent to all leaders soon asking them to select members who will attend the camp from their club. Ages will be 11 years on up. Each club will be limited to sending 20% of its enrollment.

All 4-H Agricultural club members are invited to attend the grading for feed efficiency testing demonstration that will be held at the Frank Anderson ranch on Saturday morning, May 17.
