Elys Celebrate Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Ely of Morgan celebrated their Golden wedding anniversary at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Matthews Sunday June 15. A reception was held in the afternoon. After Mr. and Mrs. Ely cut the first piece of the four tiered wedding cake the remainder was served by Mrs. Delmer Crawford, a granddaughter and assisted by Mrs. John Eubanks, a niece. The cake was decorated with a bride and groom and the numbers 50 in gold, gold bells, and white roses and golden leaves. Mrs. Eldon Lilly, a granddaughter, poured the coffee assisted by Mrs. Pete Cannon, a niece, Miss Ora Ely, a granddaughter, presided at the punch bowl. She was assisted by Miss Elise Bauernfeind. Payne Ely, Allen Ely, and Berl and Bobby Akers, grandsons, had charge of the ice cream. Eileen Ely and Billy Akers, granddaughter and grandson had charge of the guest book. The table was decorated with spring flowers. Mrs. Ely wore a navy blue dress and a white orchid, Mrs. Matthews wore her mother's wedding dress of white batiste with a short train. Mrs. Clara Kincaid made the dress.

OUTDOOR ENTERTAINING COSTS LITTLE

Supper parties around the outdoor grill or barbecue set are easy and economical but most of all they perk up summertime appetites because they make simple food festive. Plan a menu that can be prepared in advance so that the hosts are free to enjoy the fun. Hamburgers can be cut into patties beforehand and placed between wax paper squares in the refrigerator until ready to use. Hearty potato salad, pickles, crisp potato chips, onions, relishes and chili sauce together with cold, refreshing beer complete the low-cost but satisfying fare. To save trips to the yard, stack it all on a big tray, ready to carry out in one load. When the host broils the burgers, let everyone help himself to food and beverage. It's a smart way to entertain.

EMBERS!

Just a little spark—
And a nice brisk breeze.
Then a tower of smoke—
Makes the Farmer freeze
It won't take much time—
And there's so little cost.
Why not call us now?
