

OSC Students Advised Make Housing Plans

Oregon State College—College opening is still a calendar page away but Oregon State college students were advised this week to be thinking about housing arrangements.

On the campus, adequate dormitory space is assured for all single men and women wishing to live in the residence halls, according to Robert C. Koehler, director of dormitories. Campus housing for married couples is all taken, but prospects for off-campus housing in private homes and apartment houses are "excellent."

Some single rooms are still available for both men and women in the dorms. Board fees remain exactly the same as last year—$47 per month in all halls—and room rentals are the same with one exception. In Central hall for men, the room rent has been increased from $45 to $50 per term. Rent per term in the main dorm for men and Waldo hall for women is $53; in Sackett hall for women, $68 per term.

Short Handled Shovels Don't Apply

In the days of Samuel Lancaster and the other Highway Pioneers, the scenic loops and curves and grades of the Columbia Highway were built far above the river, with picks and shovels, freenas, mules and men; also black powder, star drills and a sledge. But, when the Moderns ironed out the curves, they did the grades down along the water-route and blasted their way through the foot of the bluffs, they did it with huge suction dredges, dynamite, bulldozers and dield oil. They made the barn-sized boulders into base material to fill the low spots until now you never feel a bump when you ride the road between Dodson and Bonneville where the boulders blocked the way when the above picture was taken. Construction like that costs approximately a third of a million dollars per mile.

Gas Sales in State Take Drop in June

June gasoline sales in Oregon took an unexpected dive below sales in June last year. Secretary of State Earl T. Newby reported Thursday.

Sales totaled 51,007,747 gallons, more than 800,000 gallons below the sales figure for the same month a year ago.

Despite the drop, Newby said consumption was high enough to keep mileage well above any other month of this year. Motorists rolled more than 600 miles, a high for 1952, and in so doing managed to kill nearly seven persons for each 100 million miles of travel.

The actual mileage death rate, 6.8, tied with the February rate to make them the two worst traffic killing months, mile for mile, for the year to date. June traffic deaths numbered 41.

Officials expressed puzzlement over the drop in gasoline sales for the month. June generally brings in a heavy influx of tourist travel, resulting in gasoline sales and mileage increases.

Local Cattle Is Consigned For Eastern Oregon Bull Sale

Among the Hereford breeders consigning bulls to the Oregon Cattlemen Association's graded range bull sale at Baker on September 23 are Frank Anderson, of Heppner; Dallas Craber, Heppner; Everett Harshman, Hardman; and Floyd Worden, Heppner. Ninety-three bulls, both Hereford and Angus, will be sold.

"All bulls at the sale will be of top quality", states H. I. Stearns, Prineville, President of the Association. "The bulls will be graded on September 22 by Judge Tippet of Enterprise and Charles Kyd, Washington State college to determine their quality. The individual bulls not meeting high standards will be sifted from the sale."

Bulls at the sale are being consigned by purebred breeders from all sections of Oregon. Stearns said this week that the list of consignors includes some of the cattle breeder names in Oregon.

Pre-sale interest throughout Eastern Oregon would indicate a good attendance at the sale. Ellis White of Ontario will be the auctioneer.
