State Rates High in Polio Contributions

Oregon's March of Dimes agency today loosed a statistical blitz as proof positive that residents of the Beaver state are high among the highest in the generosity of their support of the incessant campaign against polio.

Oregon school children topped the nation in the 1952 March of Dimes. . . Portland was the leading American city in the over 100,000 population class. . . and Oregon finished a snappy fourth among all the state in per capita contributions to this year's record-breaking effort.

The results were announced by Dr. E. T. Hedlund of Portland, state March of Dimes Chairman. He said they were based on a country-wide compilation received this week from the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis in New York.

This year's campaign in Oregon brought in a record $640,000—which represented a 25 per cent improvement over 1951's $512,000. It also represented 42 cents per capita, as compared with 34 cents in 1951. This average earned Oregon fourth place in the nation, behind Wyoming (56 cents), Nevada (50) and Idaho (49)—but Dr. Hedlund said the Oregon total was greater than the combined sums raised in the three top states.

Oregon school children gave $42,000—or an average of 25 cents apiece. This, Dr. Hedlund said, was the best per capita school showing of any state. Twenty-two thousand dollars came from the Multnomah County schools.

The Portland-Multnomah county per capita contribution for all givers was 54 cents—the best for any city in the over 100,000 class. However, Gilliam outranked the other 35 Oregon counties with a 99 cent average; Grant County second with 76 cents, Sherman and Lake tied for third with 71 cents and Douglas next with 66.

Bread Stales Quickly In Frig., Study Shows

Homemakers who keep bread in a cooler—or even in the refrigerator—in hopes of keeping it fresh longer will be discouraged to learn that they are only making it stale faster.

Miss Agnes Kolshorn, extension nutrition specialist at Oregon State college says the American Institute of Baking recently completed a study on the causes of bread staling. They proved that as the storage temperature of the bread is lowered the staling rate increases. Bread becomes stale most quickly at temperatures near freezing.

This, however, does not refer to frozen and stored at well below freezing temperatures, Miss Kolshorn points out. This will keep fresh for many months.

The EASY-DOES-IT CORNER

BY ED DICK — GORDON WHITE

Corner-Post Anchor Made From Old Harrow Disk

We heard about this clever corner-post anchor (below) that will stand a lot of fence pull—prevent sagging. Thought it might interest you.

FASTEN ON WITH SPIKE OR LAG SCREW

Incidentally, you can add years to the life of any fence post by dipping it in Standard Wood Preservative. It seals the pores in all types of wood touching ground—fights the causes of wood decay.

Apply it the same as ordinary creosote to grapestakes, fenceposts, mud sills, underpinning, hop poles, etc. You'll find it pays to apply Standard Wood Preservative a foot above the ground to retard fungus and rot. Call us about it. Serving your needs promptly is our aim as local businessmen.
