Smallest City Park In The World?

William Waldo, Oregon pioneer of the early 1840's, built himself a home in Salem before the City Fathers got around to laying out the city streets. One day, in 1872, an itinerant peddler drove by Mr. Waldo's front door and sold him a little Sequoia Gigantea seedling which he had brought all the way from the Yosemite Valley, and which the pioneer planted in his front yard. The seedling liked the climate, nestled its roots deep in the Salem soil and grew so big that when the City Dads laid Summer street right through Waldo's front yard they didn't have the heart to uproot the stranger. So they drew a circle around it just big enough for it to stand in and dedicated it as a municipal park. If anybody knows of a smaller city park that can show more board feet, Salem's city manager would like to hear about it.

The masquerade ball at the Legion hall sponsored by the Post was Saturday evening and a great success. One of the outstanding features was the group dressed as Indians with a teepee in the corner of the hall. E. W. Bristow as Sitting Bull and Mrs. Earl McCabe as an Indian grandmother won the prize for couples. Mrs. Ronald Tye won first as Satan, Mrs. Loren Leathers second as a Can Can girl and Ted Palmateer 3rd as Digger Odell for adults. Children winning were Jerry Morgan, Gary Brenner and Skippy Pettyjohn. The hall was decorated with corn stalks, bales of hay and the Hallowe'en theme. The Auxiliary girls served lunch and the Lullax girls served lunch and the Lullax girls served lunch and the Lullax girls served lunch.

The usual pranks were played here Hallowe'en and very little damage was done with the exception that 8 windows were broken in the Willows Grange hall. The little youngsters were out early in the evening for trick and treats.

Mrs. Frank Tews of Seattle was a recent visitor here.

Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Ely of Boardman were Ione visitors on Monday.

Guests last week at the A. E. Stefani home were Fred Stefani of Canby, Stan Brooks, Francis Thorpe and Mr. Mitchell of Oregon City. They were up to do some bird hunting.

The Masons entertained the high school boys at a banquet at their hall Friday evening of last week. There were 28 boys from Ione and 2 from Lexington. Duane Baker showed films of the football games that have been played and several of the seniors gave talks. The food was served by the ladies of the Eastern Star.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Ray returned last week from a trip over into Washington where they visited relatives at Lyle and Husum.

Mr. and Mrs. T. N. White were Yakima visitors last week.

The fifth and sixth grades had a party Friday afternoon at the school house. Eight of the pupils directed by Mary Emert worked up a playlet "Magic Brew" during the noon hour and presented it as a surprise for their teacher Mrs. Franklin Ely and the classroom. Mrs. Paul Pettyjohn and Mrs. Ray Heimbigner, room mothers gave treats of ice cream molded in form of witches and pumpkins. The children brought sandwiches, cookies and cider.

Who Has it. Will Get It— Or It Isn't Made

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

-40¢

Amled over to Bob's Restaurant Tuesday for lunch and noticed a new sign "Left Ham Sandwich, 40¢... Right Ham Sandwich, 30¢."

"Why the sign, Bob?" I asked. "Don't tell me you believe hogs scratch more with their right leg than with their left—so's the left ham is more tender?"

"No," he says. "I don't take any stock in it. But, some people have ordered those 'left' sandwiches. When I explain to them that there's nothing to that fable, that the sign is just a business-getter, and I've only one price, they enjoy a regular, old fashioned, plain ham sandwich all the more!"

From where I sit, stories like "right" hams being tougher than "left" ones are with us because some people get ideas into their head and hang onto them for dear life. It's like those who think an adult like myself hasn't the right to a glass of beer with my supper. I say let's keep our opinions free from being "sandwiched-in" by misinformation.

Across The Counter By Frank & Van

"Insure my house," John said. "Will $8,000 of fire insurance do the job?"

"No, not completely," I replied. "It's enough fire insurance, but more is involved if we are to properly insure your house."

John looked surprised. "Like what?" he said.

"Well, like Extended Coverage. It provides protection against windstorm, explosion, auto or aircraft damage, riot, and other things. And it has been broadened recently too."

"Wow," John remarked, "That surely ought to do the trick."

"Partially," I replied. "But three other coverages should be considered. Comprehensive Personal Liability will provide protection against lawsuits and pay medical expenses of those injured on your premises or by your family's personal actions. Residence Glass Breakage is available too. Then finally, Additional Expenses can be added to reimburse you during the period you may be forced out of your home after a fire and have to live in a high cost hotel and eat in restaurants."

"Gee," John said, "I didn't realize what broad protection I could receive."

"Well, John," I said, "how about it? Should we INSURE your house?"
