DID YOU KNOW . . .

By O. M. Yeager
From the Hepner Gazette—
Tuesday, Jan. 3, 1893.

In conversation with some of our most progressive citizens, the Gazette finds that they are earnest for better sanitary arrangements. Now that we will soon have water, and while it will be an everlasting benefit, if not carefully used will leave here and there accumulations that will breed diphtheria and typhoid fever.

Mr. Hepner suggests a good system for keeping privies clean, and these are a great menace to health and will become worse as the town grows older, is nothing more nor less than periodical cleanings to be provided for by ordinance, the construction of the buildings to admit for this without trouble. Mr. Hepner has seen the system tried in as large a city as Berlin, Germany, and knows it will serve the purpose of more expensive, and what seems to be at our town impossible sewerage. JOB work neatly done at the Gazette office, only steam presses between "the river" and the Nevada line.

A La Grande carpenter tried to commit suicide few days ago by drinking whiskey, and he was nearly successful.

All Printing done at the Gazette office hereafter will be charged for at the same old rates before the cholera scare.

It is said that a visit from the mayor of Ione, Tom Carle, always leaves more or less sadness and disappointment with it. Tom is a heavy weight at solo.

The coming inauguration of Grover Cleveland promises to be the grandest event of the kind ever witnessed in Washington. We predict that his going in will be a sight brighter than the coming out. Stick a pin in here and see if it is not the case.

That in 1903 E. E. Parker and D. P. Boyle, lawyers, had offices on May Street?

That in 1903 there was a furniture factory here? Here are a few of the prices:—Cupboards, $3.00 and up; Kitchen Jewels, $3.50; tables, $1.50; Chiffoneers, $7.50.

That W. T. Hatten had a blacksmith shop opposite the city feed yard?

That Arthur Smith, Jeweler and watchmaker advertised his place as "Right ferment the Opera House."

That in 1903, Lee Cantwell announced that he was back in the cycle business on Lower Main street.

That in the same year THE FAIR STORE on lower Main street was advertising men's suits at $3.50 per suit.

Those were the days in Hepner when "Sunny Jim" always ate "Force" for his breakfast.

Letters To The Editor

To The Editor—
Our Tribute to A Very dear Friend—We wish to express our love and deep gratitude to a very dear and precious young friend.

Also we want his parents to know that we deeply appreciate their sharing their boy with us these past years.

Jerry was a very special pal of Jack's and seems only yesterday that Jerry, Jay and Jack were packing their little lunches making ready to start on one of their frequent jaunts over the Hepner hills and canyons on their quest for rabbits, crows, squirrels and hawks. Jerry used to have a crow that he had taught to talk. Some times George Moore was with them, and Jack just wrote us a letter saying that George would be home for Christmas, he hopes. In Jack's letter he said, "I am awfully sorry about Jerry. He was a swell kid. That, coming from Jack meant something to us."

The past few years Jerry was just like one of our own children, and was always running in and out with Jack, and we loved him the same as Jack.

The last time Jerry was home on a visit, he came across the street to our house and threw his arms around Mrs. Yeager, and said, "Mom, I am awfully glad to see you". On that last visit home, we heard Jerry and Jack making plans about what they were going to do together as soon as they got back from the war. Jack will feel the loss of his friend more than any of us. Poor kids.

When Jack and George Moore went away together, we felt a deep love for George to, and we hope he gets here for Christmas. Jerry, this family wants to say goodbye to you for a little while, but we know that someday, somewhere, we will see you again.

"He Gave his Life that We Might Live."

Jerry gave his life to, that we in Hepner might live in safety, peace and happiness. May we all in this town of Hepner live like "They" would have us live, and there will be no more war.

Mr. and Mrs. O. M. and Jack Yeager.

Citrus Solves Christmas Gift Problems

Today, citrus is our biggest fruit crop, and low in cost by comparison with many of our foods. This time of year the quality of oranges, tangerines, and grapefruit coming from Florida is right at its peak, which makes citrus a good item to use in concocting Christmas goodies, whether they are to be wrapped as thoughtful homemade gifts or served at holiday meals. Here are some unusual ideas for their use—cloves-studded orange pomander balls, sachets treasured for their spicy aroma; tangerine poinsettias or grapefruit halves for a sensible light dessert; a new marmalade to make at little cost and tuck in stockings.

Spicy Orange Marmalade

- 6 Florida oranges
- 5 cups water
- 6 cups sugar
- 1/2 cup raisins, ground
- 2 inch piece stick cinnamon
- 1/4 cup vinegar
- 1/2 cup chopped nuts

Using the point of a paring knife, remove orange peel in quarters. Discard center membrane and seeds; dice pulp. Put peel through food chopper using coarse blade. Cover ground peel with water and bring to a boil. Cook until peel is tender. Add diced pulp and continue cooking until mixture reduces to about 1/2 its original volume. Add sugar, vinegar, cinnamon and raisins. Stir until sugar is dissolved. Cook slowly until mixture is thickened, stirring frequently. Mixture has been cooked sufficiently when the syrup drops, not runs from the spoon. Stir in nuts. Turn into hot sterilized glasses filling to within 1/2 inch of the top. Cool and skim. Seal with hot paraffin at once. YIELD: 10 6-oz. glasses.
