Lex Grange Meets Saturday Evening

By Delpha Jones

Grange was held Saturday at the local hall with Master Cecil Jones in the chair. Discussion for refinishing the floor was the main topic for the evening. After the business meeting a very clever program was put on by the lecturer Mrs. Karl Miller, which consisted of several numbers, the flag salute led by Mr. Alfred Nelson, a vocal duet by Mrs. Gene Cutsforth and Mrs. Norman Nelson accompanied by Mrs. Miller, the following was a very sweet number, which consisted of two made valentines, in which two youngsters stood during the reading, and following this part the curtains were drawn disclosing an older couple with a very clever poem being read about them. People taking part were: Russell Dolven and Charlene Jones, and Mr. and Mrs. Martin. After this a cute mixer game was played by all present, which was the dressing of two of the men by an other couple of men in women's clothing. Those being dressed were Cecil Jones, and Wilbur Steagall and those doing
