When winter weather threatens mountain telephone lines, Jim Carson and his fellow linemen roll out to make sure calls go through.

Jim Carson—Telephone Trouble Shooter

The story of how telephone men see that your calls go through in any weather

"Jim Carson" could be any one of the thousands of telephone trouble shooters on the job in the West. And he's mighty busy when blizzards strike in the mountains. When the electronic testing equipment spots possible trouble on telephone lines, Jim and a telephone crew are dispatched to stop the trouble before it can interrupt service. Often while a storm is still raging, they are on the job—clearing lines—helping to make sure your telephone calls go through quickly, reliably.

When disaster strikes
Flash floods, forest fires, earthquakes—these are disasters which can strike a community. But you can be sure that telephone men and women will be on the job in times of crisis—maintaining telephone service which can have a value beyond price as vital telephone calls go through.

YOUR TELEPHONE IS ONE OF TODAY'S BEST BARGAINS

Radio telephone keeps Jim and his fellow linemen in touch with their home telephone base. If necessary, they may call upon emergency telephone equipment which is stock-piled at strategic locations up and down the West. After the storm, Jim and his crew may patrol lines for potential trouble spots—leaning poles, broken branches, wires buried in towering snowdrifts. It's constant checking like this that keeps your service dependable. And, of course, keeping your service reliable in any weather is just one more way we make sure your telephone service remains the finest in the world.
