How his $51,000 tool kit works for you

Yesterday—Manpower and a drill rig contrived from a springy sapling, cable and drill bits sank our first wells. Since the rudimentary tools restricted their depth, they produced little oil. The "tea kettle" refineries of the day were limited, too. They utilized only a portion of the petroleum and turned out a small number of useful products.

Today—Each of our 34,750 Standard Oilers works with an average $51,000 worth of tools. They use diesel-electric drill rigs to tap oil pools as far as three or more miles deep. With refinery units that rearrange the structure of petroleum molecules they make each drop of crude useful. Ingenious production, refining and research "tools" like these enable Standard Oilers to make more than 1100 different products from a barrel of oil. . . gasoline 50% better than it was 25 years ago, and wear-saving lubricants; ingredients for wrinkle-resistant fabrics, low-cost plastics and work-saving household detergents; sprays to increase farm crops; asphalt for road builders, and many more. Standard's investment in "tools" to make oil serve you better amounts to $1,772,000,000. That's $51,000 worth for every Standard Oiler. With this $51,000 tool kit he not only makes more products for you—he makes them better, cheaper, more easily available. Questions or comments about our Company are welcome. Write: Standard Oil Company of California, P.O. Box 3495-A, San Francisco, California.
