Many of the fine open class livestock exhibited at the fair have gone on to win honors at other shows. If you really want to see some fine stock, bring your straw hat and do your own judging, on the side. # Every third employee owns part of Standard

Meet Forrest Dickinson, a driller from Whittier, California—and one of the owners of Standard Oil Company of California. Forrest is bringing up three youngsters, buying a home, and is also building a family nest egg by investing in his Company through Standard's stock ownership plan. Forrest and other Standard Oilers who are 35 or older and have 5 years of service, may, if they wish, invest a portion of their pay in Standard shares. The Company assists by contributing a percentage of its net profit to the stock ownership plan. Thus, in addition to salary and employee benefits, Forrest shares Company earnings in two ways: through Standard's contributions to his stock purchases, and through dividends on stock. Nearly 95% of all eligible employees now participate in this plan. While several thousand previously had invested in Company shares on their own, 12,000 of a total 34,750 Standard Oilers are now shareholders. This means, of course, that better than one out of every three people who work for Standard also own Standard. That's why Standard Oilers work harder to serve you better—after all, it's their business, too.

There's No Such Thing as a "typical" Standard shareholder. More than 115,000 individuals and couples from all levels of life own Standard.

Small Businesses and large believe in us, too, because our records show that 1,889 firms own shares of Standard Oil Company of California stock.

244 Churches and religious organizations, 165 hospitals and medical groups, and 293 universities and schools own part of Standard.

Standard's Owners are, mainly, thousands of average everyday people, most of them Westerners. Their Company's management is wholly independent. Standard Oil Company of California is neither owned nor controlled by any of the Standard companies in the East. Questions or comments about our Company are always welcome. Write: Standard Oil Company of California, P.O. Box 3495-B, San Francisco, California.
