Try Canned Peas in Chowder

The dishes which become popular family favorites, served time and again, are those which offer heartiness, thriftiness and simple straight forward goodness. So it is with this chowder, an easy-to-make combination of canned peas, cooked or leftover ham and potatoes.

Ham and Pea Chowder is a healthful fall meal-in-a-dish. Canned peas, its basic ingredient, are a real bargain among vegetables since they are ready for eating and include no waste. Both the pea liquid and the peas themselves contain healthful vitamins and minerals. As for the meat, you can substitute frankfurters, canned luncheon meat or Vienna sausage for the ham.

Ham and Pea Chowder

- | | |
|--|------------------------------------|
| 1 large onion, sliced | 3 cups milk |
| 4 tablespoons ham fat, butter or margarine | 1 cup diced cooked or leftover ham |
| 1 1-pound can peas | Salt |
| 2 cups diced potatoes | 1/2 teaspoon pepper |
| 2 tablespoons chopped parsley | |

Add onion to fat in large saucepan and cook until tender, but not brown. Drain peas and add pea liquid to saucepan. Bring to a boil and add potatoes; cover and cook 10 minutes. Add peas, milk and ham. Heat thoroughly. Add salt to taste and pepper. Add parsley and serve.

YIELD: 4 generous servings.

How to make good telephone service
even better....

memo to a popular 'teen-ager'...

Dear Susan: We're leaving this little note for you to read the next time you're at the telephone.

We want you to know we're delighted that the telephone rings so often for you these days ... and that you have so many friends to call.

But we hope you'll remember that we share this line with our telephone neighbors. They like to use it, too. And, of course, we know you'll keep in mind that no one can call us as long as the line is tied up. Lovingly, Mother and Dad,
