

Many Attend Ione Daily Vacation Bible School

By Echo Palmateer
Daily Vacation Bible school started at the Community church Monday morning with Miss Martina Holmes of Springfield and Miss Joan Davis of Lewiston, Idaho in charge. The girls are attending Bible Standard Institute in Eugene. Miss Holmes is a senior and Miss Davis a junior. Miss Davis has charge of the beginners and had 11 boys and girls with ages from 3 to 6 years. Her class work consisted of a manger scene with Mary, Joseph and baby Jesus, work in workbooks on the theme of "First Steps with Jesus" and made carry-all bags. Miss Holmes has charge of the primary class and had 11 present, and are studying different characters in the Old Testament. Mrs. Ray Barnett is teaching the juniors with 9 present and they will study the Trail of Life. The theme of the school is Pioneering with Christ. The opening general assembly was at 9 a. m. and Miss Holmes gave a puppet show, and during the closing at 12 o'clock, the combined classes recited their memory verses, sang and enjoyed an object lesson. The stories, handicraft and work books are centered around pioneers, cowboys and Indians. The school will close Friday, June 18 with a contest between the Pioneers and the Indians to see who can bring the most new students. The prize for the winning side is to open the treasurer chest and have the contents. The closing program will be Friday June 18 at 7:45 p. m. at the Community church. The public is invited. Miss Holmes and Miss Davis are staying at the Claude Riley home.

Those from here attending the religious summer school in Heppner are Mary Emert, John Swanson and Linda Hams. Robert Baker is attending the summer school in Pendleton and staying with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gorgor.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH FILMS PRESENTS

"Where Do Ministers Come From"

This film OF youth, BY youth, and FOR youth is, because of these facts, all the more appealing to the older people. It was filmed in beautiful color and in direct speech on the campus of one of our own Church-related colleges, with the students and faculty taking the parts. Because of youth there is, naturally, a romance running through the picture and, also because of youth, there is much light-hearted humor. This picture shows the relationship between the local church, the church-related college and the ministry, in such a way that the church is urged to assume more definitely her responsibility for the ministry she wants and expects to have. It is thought-provoking yet highly entertaining and will appeal to youth in a big way. It shows the beautiful campus. It takes you into the classroom for a highlight of the classwork and it shows the type of students who attend. This film will be highly enjoyable to all.

At the conclusion of this film a special offering will be taken to promote films for the Christian churches.
