County Agent's News

Continued From Page Two a farmer does on his own farm determines his living, not what Washington does He pointed out that farm income could be increased 25% by applying all the good practices and cited examples where hybrid corn alone, has put more money into farmers pockets than all of the price support programs. Tours of Salt Lakes historic spots and a visit to where irrigation was first practiced in 1847, as well as a tour through the new five million dollar phosphate plant and a salt refining plant, were special events of the trip.
