RESOLUTION OF RESPECT In Memory of Brother Henry Knighten who died December 15, 1954.

And when a few days are flown And the last lingering sand is gone With Jesus nigh How blessed then to lay me down and die. It seemeth such a little way to me To that strange country, the Beyond. And yet, not strange for it has grown to be The home of those of whom we are so fond.

Again that unwelcome yet relentless visitor, death, hath entered the portals of our lodge room and summoned a dear brother to the beautiful home beyond. His zealous work in the interests of our beloved Order, and his life, laden with gentleness and kind deeds, has won for him, the plaudits of the good Master, all will cause his name to be cherished in the affectionate memory of our lodge.

And Whereas, the all wise Father hath called our beloved brother to the New Jerusalem, where "happily he hath heard the signal of his release in the halls of the Holy City, the chimes of eternal peace." An he, having been a faithful and ardent worker in the teaching of Friendship, Love and Truth, therefore be it resolved, that Mistletoe Rebekah Lodge, No. 25 in testimony of her loss, and to express its Rebekah love, drape its charter in mourning for thirty days and that we tender to the family of our deceased brother, our sincere condolence and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family.

Fraternally submitted, "Delsie Chapel" "Marie A. Lesley" "Emma E. White"

RESOLUTION OF RESPECT To the Officers and Members of Willow Lodge No. 66.

WE THE COMMITTEE, assigned the duty of drafting a written expression of condolence on the passing of a brother to the life beyond, report as follows: WHEREAS, it is the plan of the ALMIGHTY that man shall finish his duties on this earth, and then depart to the unknown; so it is with the life and passing of our beloved Brother Duran, a member of Willow Lodge number 66. His passing is deeply regretted by our lodge and many others of Heppner. His beloved family will mourn his absence, but we would say to them that their loved one only sleeps awaiting their arrival when they too shall cross the silent river.

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that we express our sympathy to the bereaved family and be it RESOLVED that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the brother's family, one copy spread on the minutes of our lodge, and a copy sent to the Heppner Gazette Times.

Social Security Farmer Benefits Reviewed by OSC

Most farmers and farm workers in Oregon are affected by amendments to the federal social security law passed by congress in 1954, reports Manning Becker, farm management specialist at Oregon State college. The law now brings federal old-age and survivors insurance to most farm families.

Beginning this month, persons who farm for themselves will be included in social security if they make as much as $400 a year profit from their farming operations, the specialist explains. Farm workers are included if they are paid cash wages of $100 a year or more by any one farmer.

Farm earnings may now count toward social security benefits for

County Agent News

While we are talking livestock, United States is the largest meat producer in the world. It is also the largest consumer. On a per person basis though, it seems that some people in foreign countries like meat even more than we Americans do. During the past two years, each person here in the United States has eaten an average of 154 pounds of red meat a year, but the people of Uruguay averaged 248 pounds of meat eaten per person last year. Australians ate 215 pounds, the people of Argentina ate 190 pounds, New Zealanders 186 pounds and the Danes 175 pounds per person. On the other hand we eat less than one-half as much lamb and mutton as we do of veal and much less than either pork or beef. Out of this estimated 154 pounds of meat eaten by each person in the United States, this year, only 4.3 pounds were lamb and mutton.

both farmers and their families. These benefits are in monthly payments in old age, and monthly payments to survivors in case of the breadwinner's death. A lump-sum payment will also be made at the time of an insured person's death, at any age. This payment may range from $90 to $255, says Becker.

Farmers must have worked under social security for at least 1 1/2 years before being entitled to any of its benefits. These benefits are payable to a retired individual at the age 65 or to his survivors.

The specialist points out that these benefits aren't paid automatically, however. It is necessary to claim them. Information on how to do this is available from local social security offices.

The first thing farm operators and workers should do is get social security cards if they don't already have them, stresses Becker.

Social security, like income tax, is now compulsory. The farm operator has the dual responsibility of reporting his own earnings at the end of each year at the time he files his income tax return, and the wages he paid his farm employees.

Farmers are to pay 3 percent social security tax on their net earnings from the farm. However, no tax is paid on earnings of over $4200 during a year. To simplify reporting, a farmer is allowed to report one-half of his gross income if this isn't over $1800. If his gross income is over $1800 during a year, he must report his actual net income. If the net income is less than $900, he may have the option of reporting $900.

The farm operator is required to withhold 2 percent of each of his employee's pay up to $4200 annually. He must match this amount and make a report to the director of internal revenue showing the worker's name, social security number, and amount of wages paid him. For further information, Becker suggests checking with local social security offices. Addresses of local offices are available from county extension offices.
