FLOOD OF NEW BILLS

More authoritative estimates are that this session of the Legislature will have a record number of bills, probably 20 per cent more than last session. Conservative predictions are from 1200 to 1400. Last Friday was the last day for introduction of bills in the House unless the bill has the approval of the Rules Committee of the House. There were 69 bills tossed into the hopper last Friday.

UNSCRAMBLE STATE SALARIES

State workers have been in something more than a dither over the outcome of an ability evaluation and salary adjustment survey ever since Barrington's Associates, Inc., N. Y. was given the $50,000 commission last August by the Legislative Interim Committee on Public Employees Retirement.

COON COMMENTS

Continued from Page 2 proving farm markets. In planning farm programs, we must remember the dynamic strength of the family-sized farms. We must get away from farm programs 'across the board' that can saddle all farmers with measures designed mainly for low-income operators.

VISITORS—The welcome mat is always ready for folks from home.

Among those who have stopped to talk awhile and let me know how things are going, have been Mr. and Mrs. Ray Wilson, Warm Springs; Ben and Pearl Johnson and Mrs. J. E. Mansfield, Milton-Freewater; Mr. and Mrs. George Woodward, Pendleton; Lester King, Helix; Bob Taylor, Athena; Mr. and Mrs. Dick Claudson, Lakeview; Robert W. Sawyer, Bend; John Milne, The Dalles; and most recently my friend the Hon. Lowell Stockman of Pendleton.

GREATNESS—Those of you who have seen the Lincoln Memorial here in Washington will remember that tremendous statue of a man, brooding in lonely strength beside the Potomac.

Although it is awe-inspiring, the Memorial is only a symbol of the great man himself. Lincoln taught us the real meaning of our American freedom. He showed us that a great man is loyal to all the ordinary folks who trusted him, is loyal to his own sound judgment, and loyal to his country.

Among the many statements Lincoln made, I think we should remember this one particularly as this new and difficult Congress begins: "The people of the United States are the rightful masters of both Congress and courts, not to overthrow the Constitution, but to overthrow the men who pervert the Constitution."

MARY E. McMURTRY, Executrix J. O. Turner, Attorney for executrix. 45-49c

Reduce the non-resident state hunting license fee from $35 to $10. California is said to be enacting similar legislation.

Require county assessors to appraise new houses and other buildings within six months after they are built.

Remove the $20,000 limit on damages for wrongful death in court cases.

Put the public utilities commissioner rule between competing gas pipeline companies which want to serve the same communities.

Ask the state to appropriate $10,000 to finance the 1956 national convention of the Veterans of World War I in Portland.

Remove log truck laws requiring them to stop at grade crossings as unexpected stops can be as hazardous as crossing the tracks.

Allow cities under 1,000 population to use their cut of state gas tax funds for any road they see fit.

A MILLION A DAY

The House Committee on Taxation is doing its part towards balancing the budget at the rate of $1 million a day. In the past three days they have reduced the deficit from $45 million to $42 million.

They found what they termed "unrealistic estimates" of revenue by some state departments. Lorán L. Stewart, chairman of the taxation committee declared estimates of revenues of the insurance department for the next biennium would be $750,000 greater than the amount set by the budget makers, and the liquor commission should produce $2 million more than the budget estimate.

The retail prices of liquor in Oregon are below those in the states of Washington and California. Liquor Administrator William H. Baillie offered to bring the committee plans for increasing the net income of the commission.

The final review of the 77-page report was given to the committee last Friday. Barrington's recommendation is that they be employed as consultants for five years at $10,000 a year while the new plan is put into operation.

The report segregates the state's 17,000 employees into 23 classes and offers three plans, the first two deemed too costly for a state the size of Oregon, the third entails a gradual adjustment to cost an estimated $345,000 the first two years.

The complex report and the suspense of waiting the action of the Legislature has left state workers in a double dither.

JAYWALKERS CANNOT WIN

A "jaywalker" cannot collect damages for injuries sustained when struck by a motor vehicle, according to an opinion made by the Oregon Supreme Court Wednesday. A taxidriver was struck by a taxicab while "jaywalking" across the street from the scene of an automobile accident in Portland.

Justice William C. Perry who wrote the opinion said, "We are of the opinion that, where the statute or city ordinance is designed for the prevention of the very accident which occurred and the evidence shows that the occurrence could not have happened except for the violation of the express conditions of the ordinance, recovery must be denied."

NAB SLOW CONTRIBUTIONS

Bob Thornton is a darned good bad debt collector who just collected $65,000 in delinquent unemployment contributions from the state from tardy and dodging employers.

The collection drive was started last May for the State Unemployment Commission. During the period, Att. Gen. Robert Y. Thornton said 186 judgments were entered; 97 liens and claims were filed; 420 executions and supplementary proceedings resorted to; and the number of pending actions was reduced by 57 since 253 were disposed of while 196 new actions were being filed.

ASSESSORS AT CAPITAL

County assessors of the state are holding meetings almost continuously in the state library building and most of the gatherings soon get into the indignant stage over what they call "the encroachment of the State Tax Commission to a great extent upon county functions."

"The present trend of the commission to become both operative and supervisory should be reversed.

Ione News

Mrs. Lake Beckner attended the funeral services of her sister, Mrs. Margaret Pedro Heintz, 53 in Pendleton Tuesday. She is survived by three sons and two daughters and two sisters, Mrs. Beckner of Ione and Mrs. Ray Hinkle of Pilot Rock.

Walter Bergstrom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bergstrom is attending Chico State college at Chico, Calif. He drove down last week. His father accompanied him in the car and came back on the bus.

Around 20 members of the Bunchgrass Rebekah lodge called on Mrs. Etta Bristow at the David Rietmann home Monday afternoon to help her celebrate her birthday. They gave her a card shower. Games were played and cake and coffee were served. The hostesses were Mrs. Rietmann, Mrs. Milton Morgan and Mrs. Wallace Matthews. Mrs. Della Corson made the birthday cake.

The Ione high school A string won at Lexington Friday evening Feb. 4 and the grade school lost. The high school won both games with Irrigon here Saturday and the high school girls won the volleyball game with Irrigon.

THE SEWING BEES

We had our first meeting on January 12. We named our club the Sewing Bees. We elected of-

sed. The assessors are apprehensive that the zeal and methods of the Tax Commission to produce immediate or particular results will engender such antipathy that the maximum value will not be realized from the expenditure of available funds." Morris C. Bowker, Roseburg, chairman of the Oregon County Assessor Association wrote Rep. Loren L. Stewart, Cottage Grove, chairman of the House Taxation Committee.
