IN A RUT-This car belonging to C. A. Warren of Heppner can't seem to get over the idea of trying to take a short cut out of its owner's driveway. About two years ago it slipped its brakes and backed over the steep bank onto the Condon highway, and again last Thursday afternoon it tried it again in exactly the same spot with the same results. Another car from a neighboring house tried to get onto the highway the same way a few years ago, also without much luck. The combined efforts of two wreckers soon jerked the Warren car back onto the flat with minor damage. (GT Photo-
