WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" By C. WILSON HARDER

Washington talks about changed attitudes of native Americans who join State Dept.

There is something about a State Department job that turns a man from an American viewpoint to a fervent desire to promote first the welfare of every other nation on the globe.

Rep. Noah Mason of Illinois the other day took issue with claim that Reciprocal Trade Treaties promote world peace, pointing out that in the 21 years U.S. has been entangled in these matters the long Spanish Civil War, World War II, the Sino Japanese War, the Russian-Finnish War, Korea, eight years of war in Indo-China, fricasses between England and Egypt, between Pakistan and India have taken place.

Rep. Cleveland Bailey of West Virginia states that when Congress originally passed first Reciprocal Trade Treaty it was not the intent to pass power to State Department to engage in a "morass of political intrigue."

Rep. Robert Molohan, also of West Virginia, gave a long discussion, in which he introduced extensive material showing the damage that already low U.S. tariff rates are working on American industry and business.

For example, it was stated the billions U.S. taxpayers have poured into foreign relief has done nothing to help average citizen, while building up big foreign interests. In Britain in 1938 average National Production of Independent Business age wages were 37% of U.S. wages, in 1952 this declined to 28%. In France the decline has been from 43.3% to 31%, in Germany from 46.6% to 22% and in Holland from 41.32% to 20.4%. Thus, foreign aid programs have depressed living standards of Europeans while building their monopolies to exceed 1938 production levels.

It was also pointed out during Congressman Molohan's discussion that 32 man Committee for Economic Development that is strongly behind tariff slashing, only has one member who would be hurt by lower tariffs, and he and one other cast only votes against recommendation.

In American pottery business, he stated, man hours worked in the industry dropped from 25,700,000 in 1945 to 18,700,000 in 1953, while sales dropped 25%.

Yet china imports from Japan increased from 206,000 dozen to 3,915,000 dozen between 1948 and 1953, imports from Germany increased from 118,000 dozen in 1948 to 441,000 dozen in 1953, imports from England increased from 188,000 dozen in 1947 to 441,000 dozen in 1953. In 1955, when Reciprocal Trade Treaties were just getting underway, only 30,000 dozen were imported from England.

This is but one of several score industries already being damaged by too low tariffs.

Yet, as several Congressmen point out, it is now sought to give the Secretary of State more powers to go to an international tariff convention in Geneva to further give away more American jobs, more American businesses, without those workers, or businessmen having a voice, or representation in deciding their future. In 1776 issue was taxation without representation; in 1955 issue appears to be annihilation without representation.

Mrs. Grace Nickerson read the collect and Mrs. P. W. Mahoney read the scripture.

Following the meeting Rev. Reeves showed a series of five films depicting the last days of Christ upon earth; The Last Supper, Gethsemane, Arrest and Trial, The Crucifixion and The Resurrection.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Robert Penland and Mrs. E. K. Schaffitz.

Colorado Neighbors Former Residents of Morrow County

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Wade and Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Hereim are neighbors near Fort Collins, Colorado. They discovered both had been Morrow County residents years ago.

Mrs. Hereim who had been Boardman correspondent for many years prior to 1931 had a copy of the Heppner paper issued in June 1921 and the special edition printed in 1935 at the time of the Wool Growers Convention which she gave the Wades. Much to his surprise he found a picture of his father Henry Wade of Sand Hollow, and his sons. One is the young Alvin with a load of wool. The picture was taken in 1896. Wades found much of interest in the old papers for Mrs. Wade was Miss Mabel Crawford, whose sister, Mrs. Roy Neill still lives in Heppner.

Wades homesteaded near Pilot Rock but have lived at Cheyenne, Wyo., since 1924 where they built one of the first cottage camps. They moved to a tract near Fort Collins a few years ago.

The answer to everyday Insurance problems*
By Turner Van Marter & Bryant

QUESTION: What causes all the increases in automobile collision insurance? Are we having that many more accidents?

ANSWER: We are having more accidents but the big factor is the big increase in repair costs which have doubled in the past few years. Construction is responsible also as for example the fender which used to be bought and installed for $15.00 and now costs from $50.00 to $150.00 installed with trimmings.

*If you'll address your own insurance questions to this office, we'll try to give you the correct answers and there will be no charge or obligation of any kind.
