

Sunrise Services Held at Lexington

By Delpha Jones
Sunday church services honoring the Easter season began with the sunrise services at 6 a. m. at the Lexington Christian church. A special number "At the Rising of the Sun" by the men's quartet was greatly enjoyed at this service. This meeting was followed at 9:45 a. m. by the Sunday school program and service, with the following program: welcome by Mrs. Douglas Price the superintendent, Hymn followed by the opening prayer, announcements and offerings. Four primary children, Laura Campbell, Terry Munkers, Kenny Jones and Eugene Heliker gave recitations, after which the program of the older grades was enjoyed, which consisted of a reading chorus describing very attractive silhouette pictures in the rising of the Christ, and the narrator Phyllis Nolan. There were then recitations by the following primary children, Dale

Cooper, Billy Van Winkle, Billy Klingner and Gene Wallis, Leora Mae Van Winkle, Jeanette Ledbetter, Mary and Barbara Nichols and Joyce Peck, Stephen Peck, Roger Schoonover, and Jules Wetzell, group singing of the beginners through the 3rd grade, followed by congregational singing and the benediction.

Hour of worship started at 10:45 a. m. starting with the Prelude. Call to Worship, the Doxology and Invocation, group singing, followed by the responsive reading Luke 9:27-36 with the choir singing "The Day of Resurrection", with prayer and announcements, and choir singing "Alleluia", followed by the message "The Transfiguration" with the closing.

Guests at the Francis McMillan home over the Easter vacation were a daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Hill and family of Redmond, and a brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hechtner of Ridewood, Oregon.

The dinner given at the I. O. O. F. hall by the Rebekah lodge was well attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney McMurphy and small son of Union visited at the Delmar Richards and Cecil Jones homes over Easter, and they were all guests at the O. W. Cutsforth home on Saturday night.

Miss Mary Criscera and Mrs. Buster Padberg and Mrs. Jim Bloodsworth were Hermiston visitors Saturday.

The Holly Rebekah lodge met at the hall for their regular meeting on Thursday night with the meeting called to order by the N. G. Jo Irvin. At this meeting Audrey Ansted was elected District Deputy, and she and Delpha Jones were elected to go the lodge convention at La Grande in May. Following the business meeting a style revue of Easter hats was enjoyed by both the Rebekahs and Oddfellows, with Jo Irvin winning the first prize and Cora Warner the second prize and Mrs. Annie Keene the booby prize. Judges were Mrs. Karl Miller and Mrs. Roy Martin. These hats were supposed to be "Easter hats" and very original. Refreshments were served in the dining room by Cecil Jones and Ellwynne Peck.

Guests at the Buster Padberg home on Sunday was Judy Smith, a student nurse at St. Vincent's hospital in Portland, and Herval and Bill Pettyjohn.

"The Story of Easter" was the name of the Easter cantata given at the Lexington Christian church on Sunday night under the direction of Mary Bates. Those singing were: Soprano—Inez O'Neal, Beverley Niles, Otellia Hunt, Marjorie Campbell, La Verne Henderson, Frieda Majeske, Florence McMillan, Delpha Jones, Trina Parker; Tenor—Karl Miller, Franklin Messenger; Alto—Rena June Marquardt, Phyllis Nolan, Irene Niemczak, Edith Miller, Dona Barnett; Bass—Gerry Messenger, Melvin Bates, Donald Hatfield, Donald Campbell,
