There's not enough food for you and the bugs

As any backyard gardener knows, you have a fight on your hands from the moment you turn over your first spadeful of earth. At every step, fungus growths, weeds and insects wait to destroy your lawns, trees, plants, flowers. A disheartening struggle for Greenthumbers . . . a round-the-clock fight for commercial farmers.

But, there's a growing list of weapons you can wield against bugs. Some of the most effective have been developed by Standard's subsidiary, California Spray-Chemical Corporation. In 1907, we brought out the first basic lead arsenate to stop the codling moth, a fruit crop destroyer; later, new-type summer and dormant oil sprays that safely checked scale and other insects.

Other Standard research achievements have been chemicals to kill aphids, mites, thrips, and similar sucking insects . . . dusts to destroy fungus diseases like rust, blight, mildew . . . sprays and dusts custom-made to knock out such enemies as the grasshopper, boll weevil, hornworm. Other pest-killers boost milk production from our dairy herds, help beef cattle fatten faster.

One good reason you live in the world's best-fed nation is because insect invaders have been held back on our farms, ranches, and orchards, thanks in part to Standard's constant hunt for new ways to make petroleum do more things for you.
