WHAT'S DOING

D. A. Short, your Telephone Manager for Heppner

How many parts make a telephone?

If you were to count the parts in a telephone, you'd find an almost unbelievable number. There are 433 of them, all told. Many of these are complex and precision made. Yet the telephone is rugged. On the average it needs fixing only once in about six years. And telephone people have worked out ways to make telephones at surprisingly low cost. These things help us keep telephone service a good buy for you. Pacific Telephone works to make your telephone a bigger value every day.

Good way to start a vacation

This is the time of year when many folks start thinking about time off for a rest. And here's a tip that'll help make your vacation even more enjoyable: Before you leave, or while driving to your overnight stop on a long trip, why not call ahead for hotel or motel reservations. That way you'll make sure—in just minutes—that the rooms you want will be waiting when you get there. And the cost is low. In fact, you'll be surprised how far you can call for less than a dollar. So why not take advantage of bargain long distance rates to have the peace of mind that'll make your whole trip more fun.

Does your memory play tricks?

Have you ever started to make a telephone call, only to find yourself debating whether the number was 2-8602, say... or 8206? And maybe you found out later it was really 6802. After all, a lot of different combinations can be made with the digits in a telephone number. So, it's no wonder that memory sometimes twists them around... especially if you do a lot of calling. That's why we suggest you look up numbers in your directory whenever you're in doubt about them. You'll save time and avoid the nuisance of wrong numbers. Pacific Telephone.
