In Switzerland Flag-Twirling Is A National Sport

American visitors to Switzerland will again have ample opportunity this summer to view "Fahnenschwingen." This oddity in the sports world, a favorite in Swiss alpine regions, consists of the artistic manipulation of a large flag mounted on a short handle.

Accompanied by music the player waves the flag around his head, enveloping himself in the folds, without allowing it to become entangled. Then, tossing it high into the air with one hand and catching it with the other, it is passed under each of his legs, backwards and forwards, in a series of clever manoeuvres. For additional facts about Switzerland, write Swiss National Travel Office, Dept. F-11, 10 West 49th Street, N. Y.

Farm Safety Week Planned July 24; State Program Set

To focus the attention of the nation on what needs to be done about reducing farm accidents, July 24 to 30 has been proclaimed as 12th National Farm Safety Week. Theme for the week is "Your Safety is in Your Hands."

Mabel Mack, assistant director of the agricultural extension service at Oregon State college, says the governor's committee on farm safety for Oregon plans a concerted effort during National Farm Safety Week to make farmers more safety conscious. Al Bauer, Salem farm radio director, is chairman for the committee.

The committee is made up of representatives from the Oregon Grange, Farm Bureau Federation, Farmers Union, REA's, youth groups, industrial accident-commission, OSC, press and radio.

"We believe farm safety is primarily a job of education through continued publicity and we're going to take full advantage of this opportunity during National Farm Safety Week," says Bauer.

President Eisenhower recently underscored the need for more attention to safety precautions on the farm in pointing out that a death toll of 14,000 farm residents each year is a tragic loss to the nation.

Oregon's Governor Paul Patterson, referring to the huge death toll and the work of the state's farm safety committee, had this to say: "In addition to the deaths, the president has also pointed out that more than 1,000,000 farm residents are injured each year. When we project these figures into our own farming areas, we can begin to realize the huge loss to agriculture, one of our state's greatest industries."
