

Hallowe'en Parties Given at Lexington

By Delpha Jones

Lexington was quite deserted and things quiet on Hallowe'en evening, as most all the youngsters had gone various places to parties. The Lexington Christian and Congregational churches were hosts to two parties for the young folks. One of these for the high school and the 7th and 8th graders was held in the country at a machine shed, and was indeed a ghostly affair. For the primary and pre-school group several ladies met at the church and gave this group a party. The 7th and 8th grade mothers entertained this bunch with a progressive dinner, which took place in the Steagall, Jones, Laney and Davidson homes. All report a fine time.

Bill Bloodworth, son of Mr.

and Mrs. Charles Bloodworth, is home again after a term spent in the U. S. army where he served part time in Korea.

Mr. M. V. Nolan accompanied by son Vern and Larry and Laddie Henderson, Gerry Messenger, and Steven Klinger motored to Spokane, Wash., last weekend where a group of explorer scouts was housed at the barracks at Geiger Airfield and taken on a tour of inspection. The boys returned home on Sunday evening.

Holly Rebekah lodge met on Thursday night with a special meeting with the N. G. Jo Irvin in the chair. At this time Mrs. Edna Bradley, state president paid us an official visit. The hall was beautifully decorated with bluebirds and pink roses carrying out the presidential theme. Audrey Ansted presented the president with a gift at this time. After a most beneficial talk, refreshments of banana nut bread, chicken salad, and coffee were served from card tables set in the hall on which was placed one single pink rosebud for centerpiece. There were guests present from San Souci, Bunchgrass, and Mistletoe, Rhododendron 137, Newport, and LaFrance 155, Clatskanie. Thursday afternoon and evening a large crowd from Holly Rebekah lodge motored to Ione, where they attended the district convention.

The Lexington Cub Scouts have begun their fall meetings and work with the following ladies serving as den mothers: LaVerne Henderson, Marjorie Angel and Delpha Jones. The first pack meeting of the season was held last Friday at the school auditorium with Mrs. Henderson presiding. The boys wore bee plaques as the study of that month was on bees. At this meeting the Rev. Northrup was introduced as was the institutional representative for the cubs. The pack meeting will be Nov. 30 and all parents of cubs are urged to attend these meetings as they are to help the parents, and the leaders. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Mathews, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. McFadden, Mr. and Mrs. George Irvin, Cecil Jones, Norman Northrup, Mrs. Ken Peck and the den mothers, Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Henderson.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Majeske were Pendleton visitors Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Pine Thornburg and children were Walla Walla visitors Sunday at the C. U. Pearson home.

Mrs. Emma Breshears was hostess on Sunday to a birthday dinner honoring Wilbur Steagall at the Breshears home. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Steagall and children and Mrs. Breshears.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Christopherson and daughters visited with her grandmother, Mrs. Elsie Peterson and son Elmer on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Warner were Walla Walla visitors on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Padberg spent the weekend in Portland.

Last Word in Farm Machinery

Curly Lawson was first in this area to use one of those roadside vending machines. He's sold milk and eggs in one about a year now, and recommends them highly—but with reservations.

"Mine's the latest model," says Curly. "Built-in refrigeration unit—heater—an automatic sign turner-on for night. Takes any combination of coins."

"However," he warned, "those machines aren't cheap to buy... or operate. They run about $3500. If you're not on the main highway like I am—where lots of city people pass—you'd better stick to the old methods."

From where I sit, you have to admire Curly for his pioneering spirit. Of course, there's also plenty to be said for those who tend to stick to the old proven methods. People's ideas differ on the subject—on any subject. Like you may always drink buttermilk with your meals... while a glass of beer's the "automatic" choice with me.
