WESTERN AUTO'S display of wonderful dolls was too much for Glenda Kay Van Winkle of Lexington... she just had to pick up one of them to see if they were "Real Santa Claus Stuff,"—and they were! Beautiful dolls are just one of the many gift items that Western has ready for early-bird Christmas shoppers. There are gift items for Mom, Dad and Brother too, including furniture, and Mr. and Mrs. John Pfeiffer, owners, invite early shopping for the best gifts.

PHIL'S PHARMACY has a wonderful selection of Christmas gifts—especially for the "HER" on your list. Here Pioneer Memorial hospital manager Jack Angel is examining a reasonably priced jewel case that Mrs. Angel may find under her Christmas tree on December 25 (Don't anybody tell her) Phil Blakney is showing his 1955 Christmas line of fine merchandise.

meeting was presided over by the chairman, Mrs. Ken Peck.

It was announced there would be a short program at the Sunday school hour honoring Thanksgiving, and as Sunday was the end of the contest between the whites and blues there would be a pot-luck dinner at 5:30 to which all the families are invited to come and fellowship with the Sunday school. Christmas program was announced and work will start on it as soon as Thanksgiving is through. Next in order was the church business meeting which was called to order by the chairman, Karl Miller. The new business of the meeting was the sewer system at the parsonage and a committee was appointed to take care of this. Later the meeting was adjourned. Those attending the meeting were Miss Dona Barnett, Mrs. Trina Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Munkers, Rev. and Mrs. Norman Northrup and June Cooper and Mrs. Geo. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Miller and baby daughter of Hermiston visited Saturday at the Cecil Jones home.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Griffen are at home after several weeks in Washington.

Barley Remains Best Bet For Diverted Acres

What to do with the half-million acres diverted from wheat production in Oregon's Columbia Basin counties? Barley remains the best bet, dollar-wise, according to Oregon State college agricultural economists.

For two years running, the nation's wheat growers have voted in wheat acreage allotments under the government's belt-tightening program to reduce surpluses. The acreage cutback in Oregon prompted an OSC survey of some 125 basin growers engaged in either all-out wheat operations or a combination wheat and cow-calf livestock program to learn how they could best handle the extra acres.

Estimated incomes from different uses of diverted land have been outlined in a leaflet just land to grass and financing livestock buildings and equipment.

Wheat farmers with established livestock facilities would also profit most by putting the diverted acres to barley instead of grass at present prices of barley and feeder cattle. The economists estimate that barley could drop to 55 cents a bushel before these farmers could use diverted acres to profitable enlarge cattle operations. Put another way, feeder cattle would have to bring $22 a hundredweight before forage could profitably replace 92-cent barley on diverted acres.

The college is now studying economic possibilities of holding feeder cattle and finishing them with feed grown on the diverted acres.

Copies of the publication, "Using A Half Million Diverted Acres," are available from county extension agents or the OSC bulletin clerk.

Railroads are vigorously promoting a so-called "Cabinet Committee plan" to restrict public controls over transportation rate making—returning such power to railroad hands.

Both Protect You...

Both Are Modern!

Your rights and privileges as an American citizen are protected by the Constitution, a unique and magnificent document whose principles are as sound today as when written, over 150 years ago. Through the years, amendments have been added to keep the Constitution up-to-date.

The same is true of the regulatory powers of the Interstate Commerce Commission. Congress has enacted more than 150 amendments to the Interstate Commerce Act since it was passed in 1887, completely overhauling it twice.

In principle, present ICC regulations governing the various transportation systems are pertinent, constructive, and modern in concept. Under these principles, we have developed the greatest competitive transportation system in the world!
