

Newest Fashions Shown At Spring Style Show

The newest in wearing apparel for the entire family was on gala parade Wednesday evening when the Heppner Civic League presented their first annual spring style revue at the Elks lounge.

The styles were in three different divisions beginning with children with a special attraction between each division.

Cotton frocks for spring were redominate with full skirts, big necks and bright colors taking the spotlight. The junior set oozed out in fresh, crisp nylons and washable prints, as did the sister. Casual wear and a jama parade also added to the spring fry revue.

The smaller gentleman and young adults appeared in a variety of practical but becoming suits for play and dress-up occasions.

Airy formals, dressier afternoons frocks and colorful and beaming coats, hats and shoes were also a highlight of the show. Mrs. William Labhart was the emmentator and the script was fitted by Mrs. Bradley Fancher. Mrs. Vic Kreimeyer provided the background music.

Among those serving as models in the junior revue were Mrs. Lynn O'Brien, Jody Fancher, Karen McCurdy, Janet McCurdy, John Koenig, Mark Labart, Michelle Brunner, Deanie Robinson, Colleen and Rick Sumner. In the teenage group were Skip Ruhl, Janice Martin, Janet Wright, James Monahan, Karen Prock, Doug Gribble, Janice Beamer, Dick Ruhl, Darrell Blake, Phyllis Quackenbush, and Meredith Thomson.

The adult models were Mrs. Jack Loyd, Mrs. Paul Koenig, Mrs. Robert Penland, Mrs. Ray Myrick, Mrs. William Sowell, Mrs. La Verne Van Marter, Mrs. Fred Sanders, Miss Dolores Duran, Mrs. Richard Wells, Mrs. Albert Cox, Mrs. Wallace Wolff, Mrs. Lyle Matteson and Mrs. Robert Jones.

Models extraordinary were Mrs. P. W. Mahoney, Mrs. Van Marter, Mrs. Fancher and Mrs. Willard Blake showing caricatures of what the well dressed vacationist to Hawaii is wearing, the newest thing for the outdoor woman golfer, the costume to wear while spring housecleaning and still look neat and what the well dressed woman would have worn in the 1920's.

Shops showing at the revue were Mary Van's Dress Shop, Norah's Shop, J. C. Penney Co., Wilson's Men's Wear and Gonty's.

More than 100 guests were seated at individual tables during the style show and for late refreshments served by members of the League with Mrs. Phillip Blakney as refreshment chairman.
