Butter Makes Stew Richer

A half stick of butter, vegetables and meat . . . and you're in business to create a stew of majestic appeal. It's seasoning then, and the method of flavor-blending ingredients that bring forth a prized stew. Butter used with a liberal hand provides its own rich flavor and helps carry the flavor of herbs and other seasonings throughout a dish. Here in the stew recipe, the onions are sautéed in butter until tender. Then they are removed while the meat browns in the savory-accented butter. Back go the onions plus herbs and necessary liquid. Slow simmering blends the seasoning and meat flavors. Potatoes and carrots go in last to be cooked only until tender.

Gourmet Beef Stew

- 4 tablespoons (1/2 stick) butter
- 1 medium onion, sliced
- 2 pounds beef, lamb or veal stew meat, cut in 1 1/2 inch pieces
- 1/4 teaspoon each, rosemary, thyme and basil
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 2 1/2 cups water
- 1 cup dry red wine
- 12 small white onions, peeled
- 6 medium carrots, scraped and halved
- 3 medium potatoes, peeled and quartered
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley

Melt butter in heavy kettle; add onion and cook until tender, but not brown. Remove onion; add beef and brown on all sides. Return onion to kettle with spices, salt, water and wine. Cover; simmer 2 to 2 1/2 hours, or until meat is almost tender. Add vegetables and cook 30 minutes longer. To thicken stew, make a paste of 2 tablespoons cornstarch and 1/2 cup water. Gradually add to stew, stirring constantly, until thickened. Turn into serving dish; sprinkle parsley over top. YIELD: 6 servings.
