From The County Agent's Office

By N. C. Anderson

Recently we received, in this office, a map showing expected infestations of grasshoppers for the entire United States. The southeast portion of Morrow county showed a very serious infestation. This prediction was made on adult counts and egg laying studies last fall. Visiting recently with representatives from the Bureau of Entomology, we find that Grant County's serious infestation to the area in their county bordering Morrow county's serious infestation to the south. Recent checks for young grasshoppers in Morrow county have not revealed a great number yet. A more thorough survey will begin early next week when Bob Flynn of the bureau will arrive in the county.

The department of agricultural economics has selected approximately thirty cow-calf-wheat-summer fallow farmers and will carry on a study of such operations this summer. These farmers were selected from the Columbia Basin area, with nine of them from Morrow county. The study is to be held in an attempt to determine the various relationships of crops and livestock to one another and how they effect farm income. The study will compare costs and returns from selected beef cattle operations. From survey data collected this summer, and from other sources, the college plans to prepare a farm budget comparing profits from cow-calf, cow-feeder and feeder enterprises on the wheat-summer fallow farm. Interviews will be made in Morrow county during the week of June 18.

The Morrow County Livestock Growers Association, this week, added a new service to the many activities they are carrying on this year. The new service is an agreement with the Hams Truck Line of Ione, whereby part-load shipments of cattle, sheep or hogs can be made to Portland. Arrangements were made with Mr. Hams, since many livestock men have complained of not being able to get livestock to the Portland market. Shipments will be assembled on the first and third Saturdays of each month. Cattle will be picked up at the farm or will be received at Ione the first and third Saturday mornings until noon. Full load shipments from the farm or those delivered to Ione will move to Portland for 60 cents per hundred, while part-load pickups will be made at the farm for 70 cents per hundred. This service was initiated at the request of a number of livestock men throughout the county. The Livestock Association hopes that it will be used. Those wishing to ship may call the Hams residence in Ione and leave their order for farm pickups.

FAIR-MINDED

Haying time again, don't forget your bales of alfalfa, grass and grain hay. There could be considerable more exhibits shown in this division if only you would take the time to pick out a good bale and bring it in. Should have several new varieties of legumes and grasses shown this year too.

KIDS IS THE CRAZIEST PEOPLE!

Kids have the goldarnest amount of energy. They play hard... learn fast... sleep soundly... grow like weeds.

How do they do it? They've got the advantage of being more recent models, of course—newer body styles and all that. But a large part of the answer lies in the fuel they run around on.

Milk's their petrol, and it's pretty hard to beat. Loaded with VCP (vitamins, calcium, protein), milk gives them mileage like you haven't gotten since you were a kid.

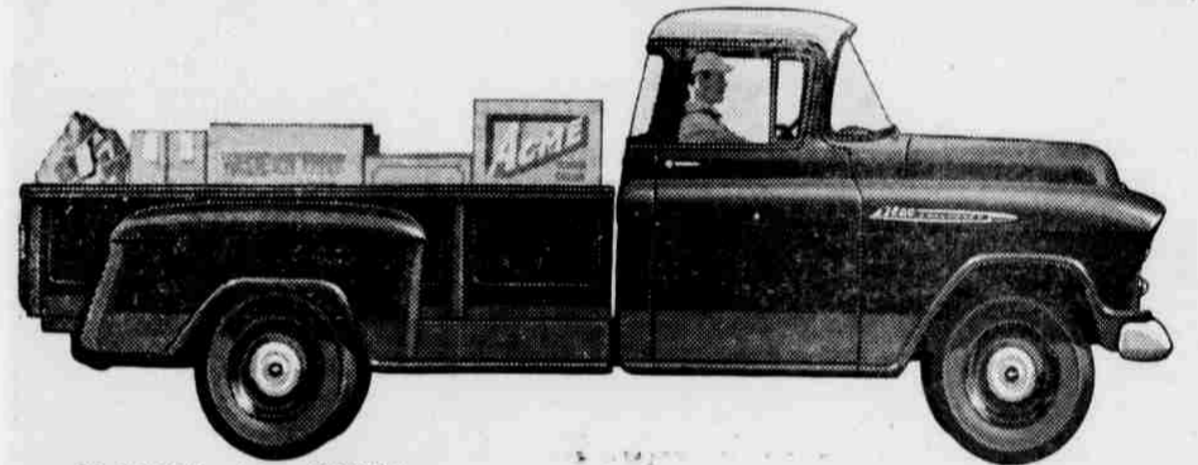

Funny thing about this fuel— it works fine in older models, too. Tried it recently?
