LOW BIDS TOO HIGH

If talking state buildings—talk in millions.

Never mention taxes, or debts. Low bid for three buildings at Fairview state home for mentally retarded persons was $36,000 too high when compared with estimates, the State Board of Control decided Monday. The best bid was $334,000, the estimate was $339,000 which included $40,000 for furnishings and architect fees.

The state board of control will meet again within a week and expect to ask the emergency board for more money or will go ahead with construction of only two of the three buildings.

NATURAL GAS RATES

Everybody seems to be getting considerable free advertising in the controversy over rates between Public Utilities Commissioner Charles H. Heltzel and Stewart Mathews, president of the Cascade Natural Gas Co.

Heltzel has denied a statement credited to Mathews that Heltzel would not approve the company's original rates because they were too low.

Heltzel has scheduled a hearing on gas matters for 9 a. m. June 21 at the city hall in Baker.

MOTOR VEHICLE AID

Expected any day is the announcement of the appointment of George C. Penson as assistant director of the newly created motor vehicle department.

Penson, the present assistant supervisor of the secretary of state's motor vehicle division, is a long-time employee of the state. Several years ago he was city attorney at Corvallis.

On July 1 the department is transferred to the governor. Governor Smith has already announced the appointment of Warne Nunn, former personnel man, to the post of director. The law authorizes Nunn to appoint the assistant director, but it is known that Governor Smith has already told Nunn he wants Penson.

Penson's appointment has been vigorously urged by the state's automobile dealers. The dealers are expressing some concern at the lack of prior experience of executive positions in this important department. Penson, at least is qualified by years of employment in the department.
