When a Timberib implement storage building is available for less than $1 a square foot, who can afford to neglect his machinery?

Structural skeleton of these buildings consists of engineered Timberib rafters which come to you all ready to use without cutting, fitting, drilling or waste. Buildings are erected quickly, often with regular farm labor, and you get a building that will serve your farm for several generations.

If you are considering a new barn, loafing barn, grain storage or utility building, see us or write for a free catalog of farm buildings. No obligation, of course.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Confused "Sit"-uation

Meaning all week to tell about Curley Lawson's "babying" experience. Is Mrs. left him in charge, at seven p.m., with instructions not to let the children come upstairs. So Curley read his paper and whenever he heard steps on the staircase he ordered the culprit back to bed. Opened three or four times. Little while later, Mrs. Miller next door came over to inquire if Curley had seen her. "Here I am, Mom" came from upstairs, "But Mr. Lawson won't let me go home." From where I sit, jumping to conclusions like Curley did, doesn't always make for an amusing story. I'm reminded of the people who—without due consideration—have concluded that I'm wrong to like an occasional glass of beer. Well, to my way of thinking, that's not only intolerant... but, what's more, "minding" the other fellow's business is not the American way.
