FHA Rancher Loans Over One Million

Farmers in Baker, Grant, Union, Umatilla, Malheur, Morrow and Wallowa counties of Eastern Oregon obtained loans totaling $1,250,000.00 through the Farmers Home Administration during the year ending June 30, James S. Cody, the agency's County Supervisor said this week.

The agency has advanced credit to buy feed, seed, fertilizer, equipment, livestock, and other farm operating items needed to place farms on an efficient operating basis, and to buy and improve family-type farms. It also advanced funds for soil and water conservation purposes.

The Farmers Home Administration committees in each county must approve each loan application before funds can be advanced.

vanced. The committee determines all loan applicants' eligibility and certifies the value of farms to be purchased or improved if those actions are involved. It also makes recommendations on loan approvals and servicing actions.

Applicants are approved as eligible only if other lenders cannot adequately supply their credit needs and only if prospects are favorable for their being able to improve their farming and repay their loans.

Families are expected to refinance their loans with other lenders as soon as they are in a position to do so.

Oregon Farm Prices Miss Upward Trend

Oregon farm prices failed to follow the national trend upward in June, says Mrs. Elvera Horrell, extension agricultural economist at Oregon State college.

There was a national average jump of 2 percent in prices received by farmers in June, with no increase in farm costs—the first time since 1948 that farm prices have advanced from May to June, Mrs. Horrell pointed out. However, Oregon prices failed to follow this trend and dropped 1 percent in the price index.

Oregon farm prices are now 4 percent below a year ago, in contrast to the nearly 2 1/2 percent increase chalked up over the past 12 months in the national average. Cotton, tobacco, and oil-bearing crops—crops not grown in Oregon—helped lift the national average, Mrs. Horrell explained.
