Heppner High School SCOOP

By Jan Beamer

268 new books were received this year for Heppner high school library. Mrs. Clary, librarian, pointed out that these books represent a tremendous range of reading area, so there are books of interest to all.

Heppner seniors will journey to Pendleton Friday and Saturday to have their pictures taken by Cole's Studio. This is an earlier date than the one secured last year. However, Jay Sumner, the Mustang editor, commented that such an early date will facilitate getting this year's annual to the printer.

A familiar sound around school this week is—achoo—sniff—! These queer sounds emit from the students who just came back from the press conference at Eugene. Excluding the weather, they report having had enjoyable times.

Vic Groshens, Shirley Kononen, Joann Brosnan, Jan Beamer and Nancy Slocum will attend the regional student council conference, October 23 and 24. Mr. Stewart, superintendent, will accompany them to Baker, where the meetings will be held.

Shouts of joy will be heard Friday, not only because of the enthusiasm for the game with Pilot Rock Friday night, but also Monday will be a student holiday as it is teachers turn to go to class. Institute will be held at Pendleton.

Mrs. Hager, home economics instructor will go with Karen Valentine, Jeanne Collins, Wilma Bothwell, Phyllis Quackenbush, Joann Brosnan, Judy Collins, Roseann Ayers, and Janice Martin to an FHA girls conference in Vale October 27.

O-KI-ZU

The month of October is proving to be a very interesting time for the O-Ki-Zu Camp Fire group. We have planned a whole series of meetings on junior high girls' problems.

The first meeting we had a personality quiz, then in our second meetin Mrs. LeRoy Gardner demonstrated to the girls correct care of hair, nails and skin. She tried various hair styles on different girls to show which were the most becoming. At our third meeting Miss Beverly Bradshaw talked about color, line and design in clothes. The girls tried different colors on their skin to find which were the most becoming to them. On Oct. 22 the public health nurse will talk to us on personal hygiene.

The girls have been keeping a question box on jr. high problems which will be opened and discussed at a mother's tea on Oct. 29 by a panel of mothers and high school girls. All this activity will come to a close Nov. 6 when the group will give a boy and girl party using a political theme. This will consist of a buffet dinner at Sharon Lindsays followed by a scavenger hunt which will be followed by games and dancing at the multipurpose room. Committees are working on the entire program.

McKAY is the unrelenting foe of big TAXES and big GOVERNMENT

• Saved Taxpayers $15,000,000.00

He does more than talk—he acts. As Secretary of the Interior he liquidated two unnecessary agencies—saving taxpayers $10 million dollars; by better purchasing methods cut construction costs in one department by $4 million; turned the continuous operating losses of the Alaska railroad into a near million dollar annual profit; saved $100,000 by consolidation of branch offices in Portland, Oregon; streamlined application processing in one department and saved $280,000 in a year.

Here is my record...

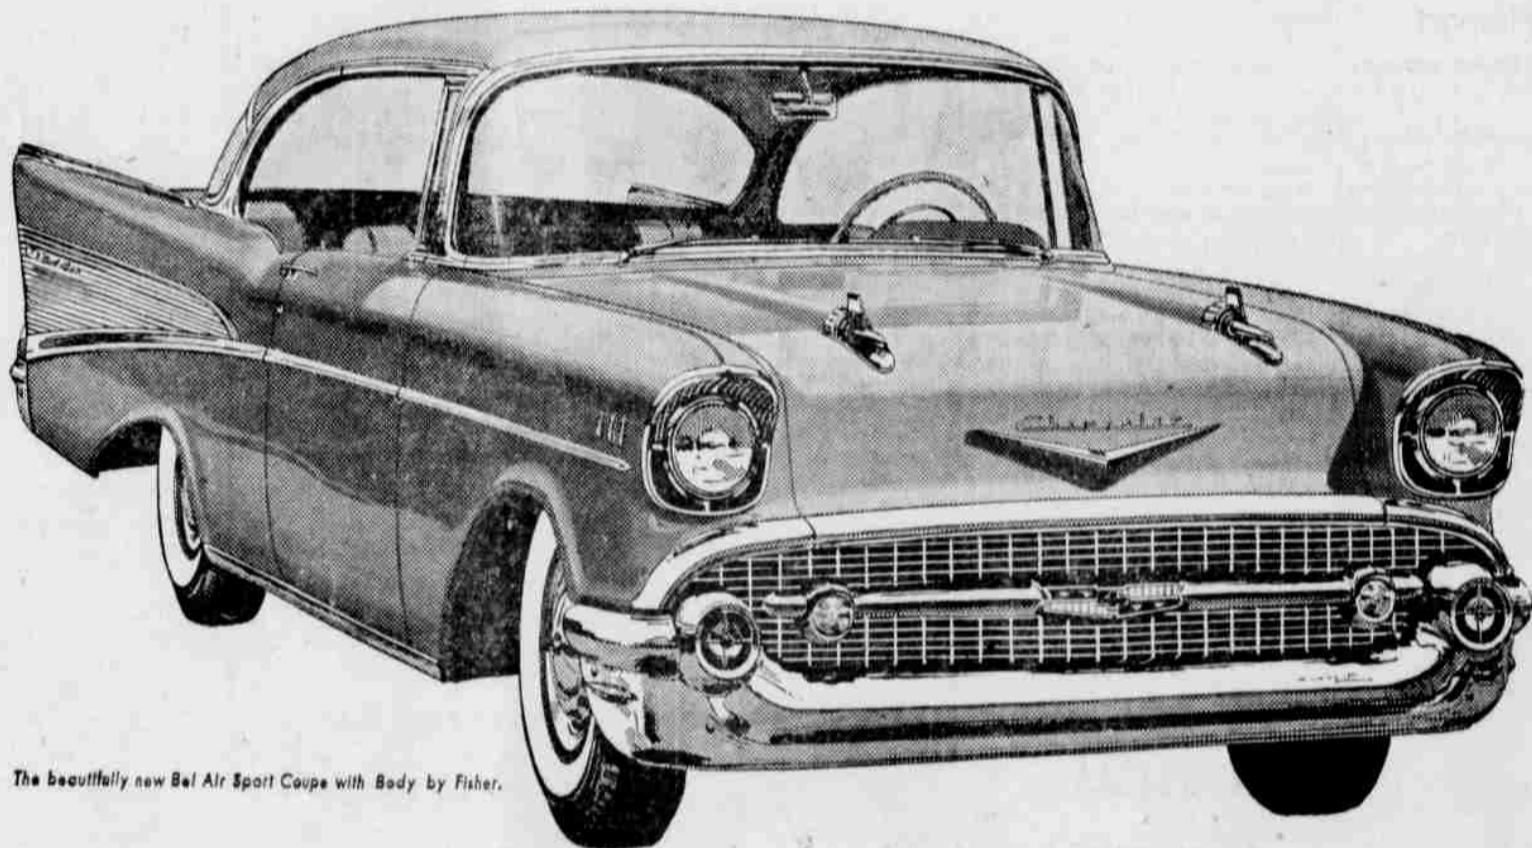

As Governor: Balanced the budget—Oregon escaped the epidemic of deficit spending; initiated the first major reorganization of state government in a generation that consolidated separate departments; held the tax line against rising costs.
