4-H ELECTRICITY CLUB

A 4-H electric club was formed at Ione. Mr. Joe Hausler is our leader and Mr. Walter Corley is our assistant leader.

We have divided into two groups called Group 1 and Group 2. Lee Hams is the president of Group 1, and this group consists of students who are members of either the fourth and fifth grade in Ione's school.

The purpose of our club is to teach us to make electricity work for us safely. We have not yet learned how we are going to do this because we are just getting organized.

We elected the following officers: Group 1; president, Lee Hams; vice president, Joe Halvorsen; secretary, Stephen Lindstrom; news reporter, Tommy Heimbigner.

Watchful eyes guard your voice when you telephone

Every time you make a phone call, a vast network of equipment speeds your voice to its destination. But a failure anywhere along the line could interrupt your service. So telephone people have worked out many ways to head off possible cases of trouble. For instance, in the maintenance center where Mike Sturtevant (above, left) and Stan Jansen work there's a new kind of line tester that checks the condition of thousands of lines an hour. It shows how well yours and others are working. In addition, telephone central offices have automatic trouble recorders that keep tabs on dial switching equipment. These recorders reveal trouble before it can interrupt routing of your calls.

Patrolling cross-country lines is another way we keep an eye on your service. And on microwave radio-relay routes and many cables, built-in alarms sound off automatically back in a control center whenever trouble threatens. In all these ways, and many others, telephone people safeguard your calls round the clock. It's part of the dependable phone service you've come to count on.

Working together to serve you better ... Pacific Telephone
