

Hoppner High School SCOOP

By Jan Beamer
New officers are now being elected throughout the school clubs and classes. Those results turned in so far are: Future Business Leaders, president, Helen Graham; vice president, Len Ray Schwarz; secretary, Janice Martin; treasurer, Rodger Harris, and reporter, Celia Boulden. National Honor Society: President, Joann Brosnan; vice president, Peggy Applegate; secretary, Judie Spaulding, and treasurer, Tom Currin.

Hard work done by the juniors paid off Thursday and Friday nights, with the very successful junior-senior banquet and prom. Thursday evening, the banquet was held in the Episcopal church hall with Len Ray Schwarz acting as MC for the event.

Mothers of the members of the junior class prepared the food, with several sophomores assisting in the serving. The girls wore red and white outfits, which helped carry out the color theme. To add to the color scheme, red and white flowers were attractively placed around the room, and the placecards and programs were of this color also. Entertainment for the banquet included two musical numbers by a small featured orchestra made up of Mr. Imus, Mr. Spaulding, Mr. Pratt and Mr. Peters. The featured group played the banquet and prom theme song. Two piano solos were given by Joann Brosnan and Helen Graham.

Friday evening, the prom was held in the multipurpose room. Purple, gold, green and black were the colors used throughout, with the theme being "The Mardi Gras." Drawings, featuring street scenes, parks, and places of note in New Orleans, were used over the walls. Walking into the room, one had to pass through a tunnel and finally came out in the dance room through an opening which turned out to be a big clown's mouth. Lawn furniture was used at one end, with folding chairs around the sides. A clown's face, with paper streamers blowing from his mouth was another interesting feature. The "Four Tones," a local orchestra was featured amid a colorful array of bright paper balls and colored lights. One of the main events was the crowning of the King and Queen, Janet Wright and Bill Brinda. The crowning took place in a huge crown-like structure which was decorated with purple, green and gold foil.

Plans for graduation are now underway. Frances Nickerson, executive secretary of the high school relations committee, will be the main speaker. Graduation exercises will be held at 8:00 p.m. May 22 in the high school gym.

Baccalaureate will be held May 19, 8:00 p.m., at the Christian church. The ladies of the church will give a dinner for the seniors following the program.

The date of May 19 marks another major event, that of the mother-daughter tea. This is given by the Soroptimist club, and is for senior girls, their mothers, women of the faculty, and faculty wives.

The familiar cramming sessions is taking place this week, for semester and nine week tests. Seniors, who have a two or better average for the semester, are not required to take the tests.

The Mustang staff proudly presented the 1957 Mustang to students after the dedication affair which took place in the lunch room. The '57 annual was dedicated to Mrs. Ora Wyland. The plastic covers have also arrived and they are now awaiting the arrival of the supplement.

Sixteen Candles and 40 million dreams!

She's out of blue jeans and into crinolines, Dad's favorite tomboy stepping out in a pink cloud on her sixteenth birthday. Ever since her first red-faced cry, your love has taken care of her—nursed her through infancy and childhood—even protected her future through your regular purchase of U. S. Savings Bonds. Small wonder you're pleased and proud!

It was just sixteen years ago this month that the U. S. Treasury's infant Savings Bond program was born. Designed to raise money for national defense, it has now developed into the largest thrift program the world has ever known. And Savings Bonds have helped 40 million Americans do things they might otherwise not have been able to do.

What better way is there to protect your family than by investing regularly in U. S. Savings Bonds? It's the easiest way to save—one of the safest—and one of the best ways to make your dreams come true.

Part of every American's savings belongs in U. S. Savings Bonds

How Standard put $4,282,372 to work every day last year

...and what this meant to people in the Western Hemisphere

Port of Spain, Trinidad Exploration for possible new sources of oil covered millions of acres in the U.S., Central and South America, Canada, Alaska and the Bahama Islands. Seeking oil for your future use is one of our biggest expenditures... $324,789 on an average day. Again last year we found more new oil than our wells pumped from the ground.

Gulf of Mexico We completed better than two new wells a day... 101 of them off the Texas and Louisiana coasts where drilling costs up to six times as much as on land. An average day's bill for drilling came to $431,516. This huge expenditure was necessary because a well may cost from $125,000 to over $1,000,000 and one out of every six wells drilled was dry.

Perth Amboy, New Jersey Standard and its operating companies from New Jersey to California, from Alaska to Venezuela hired 2,485 new employees last year. Our working family grew to a new high of 38,854. The wages and salaries they earned added to the economic health of communities in 46 of the 48 states and in many other nations of the Western Hemisphere.

U. S. A. Our Federal, State and other taxes amounted to $325,424 a day... enough to buy a helicopter for rescue work, or pay for complete training of three jet pilots every day. In addition to paying these direct taxes, in 1956 Standard collected for and passed on to Municipal, Provincial, State and Federal agencies $193,460,383 as sales and gasoline taxes.

Vancouver, British Columbia On an average day we spent $517,446 to keep equipment in repair and up to date... extending a wharf at Vancouver, adding to a refinery in El Paso, Texas or a pipe line to Boise, Idaho. This work provided employment for thousands of construction and maintenance workers as well as for the employees of firms supplying equipment.

El Paso, Texas Purchases of crude oil took $949,853 a day in areas such as El Paso, Texas and Bakersfield, California. Even though our own Western Hemisphere production was at a new high, we bought oil from many small and medium sized producers. To these people and their employees Standard was a good customer and an important source of income.

Salt Lake City, Utah Our 738 employees in Utah were among the total of 38,854 Standard Oilers who participated in benefit plans at the rate of $119,082 a day. One was our Stock Purchase Plan to which Standard added nearly twice the amount an employee deposited. Some other plans included sickness benefits, retirement pay and Company-paid life insurance.

Bajo Grande, Venezuela Increasing refinery output and improving the quality of our products are never-ending jobs. Last year one of our operating companies completed a new asphalt refinery in Venezuela and plans were announced for a future refinery near Everett, Washington. New equipment for our manufacturing plants called for investing $107,741 a day.

Portland, Oregon Although 43.5% of Standard's owners live in the West, Alaska and Hawaii, you'll find them almost everywhere. Stockholders include colleges, churches and banks, but most of them are individuals. Of every dollar we took in, 6-6/10 cents or $285,028 a day was distributed among Standard's 137,381 stockholders who own the Company.

WHAT HAPPENED TO THE $1,567,348,030 STANDARD TOOK IN LAST YEAR can best be told in terms of people... many people in many lands. For example, Standard was a customer of more than 10,000 Western firms last year. One major item such as a refinery unit required the services of people in scores of other industries.

Moreover, many of the 1250 products we made from petroleum were raw materials for other manufacturers... from paints to cosmetics, from detergents to synthetic fabrics. Thus you'd never be able to count the people who benefited directly or indirectly from the $4,282,372 Standard put to work every day last year.

Through affiliated companies operating in the Eastern Hemisphere, Standard helped carry on expansion and development programs that provided better living for people in Europe, Africa, the Middle East and the Far East.
