Lexington News

On May 16, 1957 the 7th and 8th grade classes of Lexington left on an Oregon history trip. The students stayed at Spalding, Idaho and were accompanied by their chaperones, Mr. Coval, teacher, Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Cutsforth, and Mrs. Roy Martin.

The first day the class visited the Whitman National Monument near Walla Walla with the next stop at Dusty, Washington where they ate their lunch. From there they motored to Pullman, Washington where they visited the Washington State college campus, and from there to Moscow, Idaho where a number of the University of Idaho staff showed them around the University.

On Friday the class visited the Sacajawea museum and were visitors later in the day at the Lapwai Indian school which is on an Indian reservation a short distance from Spalding, Idaho. On Friday afternoon the class were visitors at the largest white pine mills in the world at Lewiston, Idaho. While there they especially noted the veneer and plywood division, Pres-to-log plant, sawmill and the log pond. After this interesting visit they shopped around Lewiston and later attended a movie.

Art Keene and Leland McKinney, Mrs. Omar Rietmann enjoyed a visit with her son Larry in Corvallis during Mothers Weekend at O. S. C. Mrs. Rietmann has just completed her year as president of the Mother's Club of the Delta Chi at O. S. C.

Guests at the Omar Rietmann home recently were Mrs. W. W. King of Corvallis, Miss Margaret Lawthum and Mr. Eugene L. Freeland of San Diego, Calif. Miss Lawthum and Mr. Freeland are on a tour with their Rhodesian Ridgebacks. They will enter these dogs in shows in Vancouver, B. C. and several cities in Idaho. The Ridgeback is an African breed of dog which is fast becoming popular as a hunting dog in the United States. Mrs. King and Mr. Freeland are sister and brother of Mrs. Rietmann.

"Saturday morning was spent swimming in the pond near the Clearwater river, and Saturday night the students were guests of Indian students and a dance at Lapwai. At nine o'clock on Sunday morning they started on their return trip to Lexington, arriving about 2 p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Whitmore and family of Quincy, Washington are visiting with his sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Cutsforth.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McMillan and Mrs. Lou Broadley of Kelso, Washington visited at the Eugene Sawyer home in Boardman on Friday.
