Gardening Days Are Salad Days

If you're a home gardener, surely nothing's more satisfying than being able to enjoy the products of your green thumb. Gather in the "fixings" for a crisp, cool salad bowl, and you'll be well rewarded for your gardening efforts.

Fill a basket with your choicest garden lettuce, vine-ripened tomatoes, cucumbers, scallions and radishes. Wash and chill these garden treasures, then toss together lightly with a perfectly seasoned dressing.

One of our favorites is the Tomato Soup Dressing, given below. It has a tantalizing flavor that lends real zest and sparkle to garden-fresh salads. This dressing is easy on the calories, too, for it's made with the non-caloric sweetener, Sucaryl, rather than with sugar. Simply by the use of this sweetener, calories have been slashed from 45 calories to just 28 calories per tablespoonful. Best part is, you just can't taste the difference. For, without adding a single calorie, this sweetener gives cooked and baked foods a naturally sweet, sugar-like flavor.

Whether you're weight-watching or not, we think you'll enjoy this sweet yet tangy dressing:

TOMATO SOUP DRESSING

(Low-Calorie)

1/2 cup salad oil	2 teaspoons Sucaryl solution or 16 tablets, crushed
1 cup vinegar	2 tablespoons chopped onion
1 can (10 1/4 ounces) tomato soup	1/4 teaspoon garlic salt

Combine all ingredients and blend well. Makes 2 3/4 cups or 44 tablespoons. Each tablespoon contains 28 CALORIES; 0.1 gram protein; 2.6 grams fat; 1.1 grams carbohydrate. If made with sugar, each tablespoon would contain 45 CALORIES.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Krebs, Arlington, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lowe one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Herb Hamilton and daughter left Monday for their new home at Klamath Falls.

Easy Come, Easy Go, I's Same Sad Song

Fatter paychecks lined the American worker's pockets last year, but his money went out as fast as it came in.

Mrs. Elvera Horrell, extension agricultural economist at Oregon State college, reports that wage earners made more money, but they spent it and more, for both durable and nondurable goods. Houses, automobiles and major household equipment were among larger expenditures. More people now own their own homes and cars but they still have a lot of unpaid bills, and continue to pile up debt.

In the national survey reported by Mrs. Horrell, a buy-sell barter seemed to link together sales and purchases made last year. A third of the people who bought houses sold another house at the same time of purchase. Four-fifths of the people buying new cars and half of those buying used cars sold or traded cars along with their new purchases.

Flower trade-ins were made on used car purchases because many of the used car buyers were younger people entering the car market for the first time.
