See You At The Fair

Next Tuesday, not Wednesday as in past years, our Morrow county fair opens, and we hope that the hundreds of local residents who plan exhibits there will take note of the earlier opening date and have their displays ready. The change in timing was made to prevent serious conflict with another great Eastern Oregon event, the East-West Shrine All Star B football game August 31 in Pendleton.

New divisions and classes have been added to this year's premium list which should make it worthwhile for even more of us to enter and be a part of our fair. There is still plenty of time to get an exhibit ready and the more you enter the better our show will be.

But, whether you can be an entrant or not, you'll want to see what your neighbor has done during the past year, so we'll be looking for all of you next Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

There's a big welcome mat out for everyone... come join in the fun. See You At The Fair!

ODD ENDS —

It isn't every day this newspaper comes up with a law that confounds the lawyers, but a couple of weeks ago we did ... and several have been trying to figure out since what we were talking about.

We refer to the law we said was passed by the last legislature concerning the licensing of peddlers. According to our information, the law was to go into effect within the next few days, and several affected persons have been trying to find out more information about it. Deep delving into the new laws failed to reveal any, even slight, mention of the regulation, and several people, including us, were beginning to think maybe we got off the track somewhere, but yesterday our DA, Bob Abrams, finally got us off the hook and also found out that Morrow county, and probably about 35 other Oregon counties have been missing the boat for quite a while.

As it turned out, the law was passed by the 1955 legislature and went into effect in July or August of that year but apparently nobody knew it. With that delving into the intricacies of state statutes, we will no doubt let our law interests lie for a while—we sort of feel we've done our good deed for the day, even though our timing was a couple of years off.

Even at that, it looks as though we were faster than a lot of other reporters, whether by mistake or otherwise.

From The County Agent's Office

By N. C. Anderson

With the Morrow county fair to start Tuesday morning, August 27, this is the last opportunity for reminding all farm and townspeople that it is your exhibits that make a good county fair. This is the opportunity for everyone to "show off" products they have raised and made during the year. It is a time for a friendly spirit of competition. We hope that everyone will have numerous exhibits at the fair and will spend some time visiting with neighbors watching the judging

TO THE EDITOR . . .

Dear Mr. Penland:
I presume a few of your readers have been faced at times with the problem of making decisions.
It was with great regret that I found that I would be unable to continue as manager of the Heppner Branch of the Bank of Eastern Oregon as first contemplated and therefore tendered my resignation to the directors prior to the opening date of the bank.
My sole reason for this decision was to accept a promotion in my line of work with the Federal Government agency of the Small Business Administration at Boise, Idaho, and the opportunity of returning to that area where my family have lived since the year 1862.

It has been a pleasure to assist the officers, employees, and directors in setting up the Heppner Branch of the Bank of Eastern Oregon in which I shall always maintain a keen interest.

I wish to extend my best wishes for the success of the bank which I know they shall attain and to thank the stockholders for their wholehearted support and their continued support of the bank.
It has been a delightful meeting with old friends and renewing acquaintances of some 20 years standing. We shall always have a deep affection for Morrow county its people, traditions and welfare.

Respectfully,
Estis L. Morton

Fertilizer that was applied in 1955 particularly at the high rates of nitrogen.
Getting into the actual yield comparison the barley plot which is the first year that fertilizer trials have been run on barley showed that the unfertilized or check plot yielded 41.2 bushels or at the highest yield with the exception of 60 lbs. of nitrogen, spring applied. The difference was only two bushels however, which of course, would not pay for the cost of the nitrogen. Due to the extreme lodging conditions in the nitrogen plots however, it was impossible to harvest all of the barley which would account for the difference. In some of the individual plots yields ran as high as 49 bushels however, did not average this over the entire plot. The variety of barley had something to do with the yield also as Olympia was grown in the plot. This variety this year lodged badly and heads snapped so that yields were reduced. At the Max Barclay and Stefani and Son farms the check plot where no nitrogen was applied yielded almost as much as any of the plots treated with nitrogen at various rates. While small increases were shown in some cases they were not economically feasible. At the Burton Peck farm the check plot yielded 30.5 bushels per acre which was 3 bushels more than any of the treated plots and as much as 15 bushels in 102 lb. treatment. This plot yielded 14.3 and the test weight was only 53.4 pounds per bushel. At the Kenneth Smouse farm 20 pounds of nitrogen yielded approximately the same. At the Harold Evans ranch the 20 lb. application was the most economical rate. A detailed reports of the yield will be mailed to wheat farmers later.
