

New State Income Tax Withholding Rates Due Sept. 1

A new state income tax withholding schedule, based on the new withholding rates established by the last legislature, has been published by the Oregon State Tax Commission. The new rates are intended to closely approximate the actual tax liability of each taxpayer, taking into account the amount of his salary and the number of his dependents.

The new withholding rates are to apply to all paychecks received by employees beginning September 1, according to S. W. Horn, Tax Commission chairman. He points out that the rates were raised from 1% to 2% in 1956 but the recent legislature authorized the Commission to publish tables that would include allowances for exemptions so that the amount withheld would more nearly equal the tax liability of each taxpayer.

The newly published tables also give instructions to employees preferring to use a percentage system for their own convenience. To do this a formula is contained in the publication that will enable the employer to compute the percentage withholding for the various pay periods and salaries.

Examples of the new rates show that a single man with a monthly salary of $500 will have $25.00 withheld from his check. For a married man with four exemption credits the amount would be $14.70. A married man listing five exemptions and $100 weekly income would have $1.70 withheld from his paycheck. All of the amounts shown in the tables are based on the new rates of income taxation approved at the last legislature.

The tables are being sent to all employers currently listed on the Tax Commission's mailing list. Others desiring copies should address a request to the Tax Commission in Salem, or ask for a copy at any of the Commission's field offices, Horn said.
