

Mom's Dish . . . Dad's Wish

Savory Meat Ball Jambalaya is a dish for Dad. He will particularly go for the spiciness and heartiness of tiny, well-seasoned meat balls and canned lima beans cooked in condensed tomato soup, all served on rice. Mom will like the easy and quick preparation.

Since the main dish is a meat-vegetable combination, only a salad and dessert are needed to complete the menu. Toss chilled canned grapefruit sections and crisp spinach together with a fruit juice French dressing for the salad. Pumpkin custard, plain or topped with vanilla ice cream, is a good dessert.

|-------------------------------|-----------------------------------|
| 1 lb. ground beef | 1 medium size onion |
| 1 egg | 2 tablespoons fat |
| 1/2 cup fine dry bread crumbs | 1 can condensed tomato soup |
| 1/2 cup milk | 1 can (16 oz.) green lima beans |
| 1 1/2 teaspoons salt | 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce |
| 1/4 teaspoon pepper | Hot cooked rice |
| 1 teaspoon sage | |

Mix beef with beaten egg, crumbs, milk, 1 teaspoon of the salt, pepper, sage and finely chopped onion. Shape into small balls and cook in hot fat until browned. Add remaining 1/2 teaspoon salt, soup, drained limas and Worcestershire. Simmer gently until meat balls are done, about 10 minutes. Serve over rice. Six servings.
