County Schools Reorganization Meeting Slated

All county school board members will hold their first meeting in connection with the reorganization of school districts Friday, Oct. 18 at 8 p. m., county school superintendent Jack C. Flug has announced. The meeting will be held at the court house.

An explanation of the 1957 reorganization act passed by the state legislature as it concerns the consolidation of school districts will be given. In addition a county committee of nine members and five alternates will be elected to outline a reorganization plan for Morrow county.

Flug said each county in the state has been allowed sufficient funds for traveling expenses of the board members, county committee members and clerical costs until the purpose of the reorganization act has been fulfilled.

'Grandma' Rieth To Be 101 Saturday

Morrow county's oldest resident, "Grandma" Ellen Rieth of Ione, will be 101 years old Saturday, October 12 and she will be honored with a quiet open house party. Also planned is a special Mass at St. William's Catholic church at 8 a. m. Saturday by Rev. Patrick J. Gaire.

Mrs. Rieth last year was given the biggest party of her life on the event of her 100th birthday, but her daughter, Mrs. Paul O'Mara, with whom she makes her home, said this year a quiet open house is planned so that friends may drop in during the day and visit with her.

"Grandma" Rieth is still in remarkably excellent health and is able to get around the house easily and attend church services at St. William's which is only about a block from her home. Her deafness bothers her some but her eyesight is still very good for a person of her age.

Mrs. Rieth was born October 12, 1856 at Neosho, Missouri. She came to Washington in 1860 and has made her home in either Washington or Oregon ever since. She has outlived all of her family except her daughter Mrs. O'Meara and one son, F. J. Rieth, Harrington, Wash.

Boardman Woman Is Still Missing

Still missing Thursday morning was a 56 year old Boardman woman, Mrs. Clara Lovette, who disappeared shortly after noon Tuesday from her home near the Y east of Boardman. A two day search has revealed no trace of her.

Her husband, Jesse Lovette, saw her at noon Tuesday but when he came back home later in the afternoon she was gone and a note was found saying she had gone for a long walk and that if she wasn't back by 5:30 for him to go ahead and eat. She took no coat or purse with her.

Well over 100 persons searched Tuesday night and Wednesday but were unable to find any track of the woman who is 5 feet 6 inches tall, weighs about 135 lbs. has dark hair and blue eyes. Bloodhounds owned by Myrom Watts were used in the search and they immediately took up a trail for the Columbia river, which is less than a mile from her home, but searchers could find no tracks. State police aided in the search and it was reported Thursday that the Coast Guard was searching the river today.

Mrs. Lovette was said to have been in poor health.

City to Gain Revenue From New Franchise

The Heppner city council Monday night adopted an ordinance granting the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company a 20 year franchise to operate within the city. The ordinance is similar to a previous franchise given the company except that it calls for an annual fee of two percent of the gross revenue the company receives from its operations here.

In past years the city has received no revenue from either the telephone company or Pacific Power and light, and several months ago a similar provision was set up in connection with the PP&L franchise.

In other business the council heard a report of complaints of property owners on the west side of town that during recent heavy rains storm drains had been unable to carry the water. City superintendent Vic Groshens reported that the trouble was on streets which were not curbed, and that it was impossible to provide proper drainage when catch basins continually filled with mud and debris from the streets.

It was explained that no such trouble was encountered on streets that were curbed and fully paved, but that residents in the trouble areas had previously rejected a move to install curbs and pavement.

SURVEY MADE FOR NEW ONE-WAY STREET SERVING PIONEER HOSPITAL

City of Heppner employed engineers were in town Tuesday placing location and elevation stakes for the proposed new one-way street which will provide easier traffic control around Pioneer Memorial hospital.

The street has been requested by the hospital board to relieve the congestion of cars leaving the hospital and eliminate the two very sharp turns which must now be made in getting out of the public parking area in front of the building. The city agreed to provide necessary engineering if the hospital and county would do the actual construction.

The street will be approximately five blocks in length and run from the end of the present short roadway in front of the hospital to join with Cannon street to the south where traffic can come back into either Gilmore or South Court street. It runs behind the houses on the east side of Gilmore street and is planned for one-way traffic leaving the hospital.

Engineers were setting stakes to give residents along the street an idea of what was planned and easements are now being sought for the project. Very little cutting or filling will be required for the street which will have a 20 foot roadway, the engineer's survey showed.

It is hoped to get the easements signed shortly so that rough construction work can be done this fall or winter. It is planned to eventually surface the entire five blocks as money becomes available.

Hermiston JV's Dump Heppner Tuesday

Heppner's J. V.'s dropped their second game to Hermiston's Junior Varsity Tuesday afternoon by a 25 to 6 count at the Heppner field.

The Mustangs showed good possibilities in the first half as they held the Hermiston crew to 6 points while getting none themselves.

In the 2nd panel the Hermiston eleven went wild as they accounted for 3 more TD's and held the Mustangs to 6, this run being scored by Tom Driscoll on a 30 yard sprint.

On defense, Mahoney, Brosnan and Green turned in fine performances, while Prock, Driscoll and Penland stole the show.

Dr. A. D. McMurdo was in Portland the last of the week to attend a meeting of the Oregon State Medical association.

Cattle Price Drop Expected to Be Small

OREGON STATE COLLEGE—Fed cattle prices in Oregon are not expected to drop as sharply during the heavy October-November marketing season as they did a year ago, report Oregon State college agricultural economists.

Cattle slaughter is now rising seasonally but prices may decline only $2 to $3 a hundredweight compared to a drop of $4 to $5 last fall when the 1956 drought forced fall slaughter to a record high, the economists say.

A general downturn in cattle slaughter is expected to continue in 1958, pointing to favorable prices for fed cattle in the year ahead. Cattle feeders are also favored with prospects of large hay supplies and cheap grain feeds, but feeder's margins may be squeezed by the higher prices paid for feeder animals.

Meanwhile hog production is responding to generally good prices with national increases expected in both this fall and next spring's pig crops. This dims hog prices for next fall, the economists report in the current issue of the OSC "Oregon Farm and Market Outlook" circular. Copies of the circular are available from county extension offices.

Good range conditions during the past summer brought mixed blessings to lamb producers. A larger than usual percentage of western lambs are ready for slaughter this fall. This is holding prices down for fat lambs. At the same time, the supply of feeder lambs is smaller and prices are higher than last fall.
