This Week's HISTORY MYSTERY

Identify The Use Made Of This Rock And The Person Associated With It.

CLUE: In 1845 a well known Oregon personage gathered chips of flint left by Indians at Willamette Falls after making arrowheads and spear tips. From the subsequent use of these bits of flint is said to have come the expression "pocketful of rocks."

ANSWER: A shortage of metal coins in Oregon caused George Abernethy to gather the flint, with his name and the amount of money represented on the chips and use them as a substitute for money. This flint money was honored locally because of Abernethy's high standing in the same year, 1845. Abernethy became the first and only Provisional Governor of Oregon.
