

REBEKAH LODGES HOLD DISTRICT CONVENTION THURSDAY AT LEXINGTON

The Rebekah lodges of district No. 20, consisting of Lexington, Sans Souci, of Hepner, Bunchgrass of Lone, and Mistletoe of Hardman, held their annual convention Oct. 24 at Lexington with Holly as hostess lodge.

The meeting was called to order at 10 a.m. by the Noble Grand of Holly, Allet Majeske. After the president of the Rebekah assembly, Mary Barker was introduced the local lodge surrendered their chairs to the convention officers. These officers were Florence McMillan, chairman; Emma White, vice chairman; Delpha Jones, sec.-treas. The address of welcome was given by Eileen Padberg of Holly with the response by Altha Kirk of Sans Souci. After the roll call of convention officers a most impressive tribute to the flag was given by Bunchgrass.

The resignation of Delsie Chapel as convention vice chairman was announced and Mrs. Emma White of Mistletoe was elected to fill the vacancy.

The committees for the year were announced after which the minutes were read and approved. At this time the unwritten work was given at which time there were three perfects, so the three drew lots with Mrs. Thelma Smethurst of Mistletoe winning the prize. Others taking part in this were Dimple Munkers of Holly, Vida Heliker of Bunchgrass and Altha Kirk of Sans Souci.

The session was closed to reopen at 1:30 after lunch which was served by the VFW ladies at the VFW hall.

The afternoon session opened with the officers of Holly in charge, after which chairs were then surrendered to the convention officers with the business starting with the introduction of the convention officers and Lewis Jackson of Van Nuys, Calif.

The correct presentation of the Bible was given by Dimple Munkers of Holly with the music being furnished by Edith Miller.

Exemplification of women of the Bible was then given by Sans Souci which was wonderfully done, and this was followed by the memorial by Bunchgrass. This was a beautiful memorial service and was done in memory of Elizabeth Campbell, Hal Ely and Marion Cork.

The tribute to the president was given by Gladys Van Winkle of Holly and a beautiful gift was also presented her at this time. A very clever reading accompanied the gift.

Tribute to the 50-year members was given by Sans Souci with Altha Kirk and Esther Bergstrom giving beautiful gifts to Annie Keene of Holly and Millie Doolittle of Sans Souci. These two were escorted to the altar by the warden and conductor Freida Ma-jeske and Edna Fetsch. Examination of a member of another jurisdiction was given by Bunchgrass followed by the balloting by Mistletoe.

The past chairman was given honor with Em White and Dollie Fraters presenting lovely crocheted corsages to each present. A report was given from each lodge present of their yearly work and a count of these present was taken. Mistletoe had 2 members, Bunchgrass 14 members, Sans Souci 22 members, and Holly 17 members.

Helen Pettyjohn extended an invitation to the convention to meet at Bunchgrass the next time and this was graciously accepted. Election of officers for 1958 was then held with Emma White as chairman, Gladys Drake, vice chairman, Vern Batty as secretary and Dimple Munkers as treasurer. These officers were seated by Mistletoe. The president Mary Barker gave a most interesting, helpful talk and answered a number of questions. A silver offering was then taken prior to adjournment.
