

Mustang Victory 'Flu' The Coop In Stanfield Game

This week's short story... The time—Friday, November 1, 8:00 p.m. The place—Heppner rodeo field. The reason—Heppner, Stanfield football game. The result—Stanfield 39, Heppner 0. The cause—a mighty strong Stanfield squad and a Heppner turnout of just 18 boys. The rest of the team had joined the multitude who were down with the flu. The End!

tion should always receive first consideration without regard for the taxpayers. The situation has now reached the point where we must give consideration to those bearing the heavy tax load.
There is talk that the general fund budget at the next legislative session will be about $330 million, or an increase of $50 million, which is the same increase as we had between 1955 and 1957. This has probably been assured with passage of the increase in basic.
Many feel that with such a program another tax increase will be inevitable, because the general fund budget is increasing at a faster rate than the growth of the state. Representative Guy Jonas Salem Democrat, stated that if the surplus is reduced to a level of from $10 million to $20 million the 1959 legislature will face a deficit of $68 million. If this is so, why was this session called?
There has been a good deal of complaint on both sides of the party line fence about delays in the special session. House Republicans were blasted last week when they refused to allow a suspension of the rules to speed up action on several bills by voting on the bills before they were printed. This would have saved one day. The next day the Democratic majority voted to adjourn from Thursday until Monday, over Republican protest. O consistency!

No More Secret Ballots

A singular thing happened at the Capitol Monday morning. The Senate spent more than an hour in sharp and perhaps historic debate on a subject which had nothing to do, directly, with taxes or schools.
Senator Monroe Sweetland, Clackamas county Democrat and publisher of the Milwaukie Review, won his battle to prohibit the "secret ballot" system under which the Rules Committee was concealing its record on bills which came before it. A week ago the Rules Committee was given great power to act upon bills, and as soon as it came together the Committee adopted a rule to ballot only by secret ballot, and not by the traditional roll call.
Sen. Sweetland presented an amendment to the Senate rules to require a record vote on all decisions. Sen. Harry Bolvin, Klamath Democrat and most of the Republicans voted to kill the Sweetland motion by sending the proposal to the Rules Committee itself. This was rejected 17 to 12. After this test of strength, the Sweetland motion was passed unanimously.

and vocational schools provided in new legislation, according to Labor Commissioner Norman O. Nilsen, who emphasizes that enforcement of the prohibition against discrimination in publicly assisted housing also is included in the provisions of the act.

Check Costs Cut
The cost of turning out more than 7 thousand checks for state workers has been cut by use of new high-speed electronic equipment according to John F. Richardson, director of finance.

By discarding card-punching machines for this work and using an electronic computer, the average cost per check has been reduced from $1.61 to 40 cents. The time element also has been cut one third.

State Police Activities
Enforcement of motor vehicle laws by Oregon State Police last month resulted in 3,653 arrests and 14,984 warnings for violations. More than 90 percent of those arrested were found guilty and received sentences totaling 1,723 days in jail and or fines totaling $47,372.35, an average of less than $13 per conviction.

There were 237 arrests for muffler nuisances with fines totaling $1,112.75, paid, and 10 days in jail. There were 70 arrests for drunken driving with 7.7 percent acquittals and 21 cases pending. The 40 cases fined and or sentenced paid $12,116.50 and served 1005 days in jail.

Traffic Tolls Increase
Figures just available reveal a rate of 6.7 deaths per 100 million miles driven in Oregon during September, the state department of motor vehicles traffic division reported Friday.

This is the second highest death rate of the year, topped only by June when 6.9 persons met death in each 100 millions miles traveled.

Mileage for the month totalled approximately 625,286,000 miles as compared with 650,106,000 miles travelled for the same month a year ago.
