

Highway Funds Approved For Heppner Street Improvement

State Gives OK To Paving of S Court Street

Heppner will receive state aid for the paving of slightly more than the three blocks of south Court street, the city council was advised Monday evening by letter from the state highway commission. The city had applied for the aid money for four years.

Several years ago the state provided most of the money for the paving of the south Court and Hager streets to the city limits, but insufficient money was available for the entire project south and east from the court house corner. This appropriation will complete the paving from the court house intersection to a point about three and one-half blocks south where the former project ended.

The state will provide up to a maximum of $20,000 of the money needed for the project (which is expected to total approximately the $20,000 figure). The city will provide the necessary rock for the work which has already been purchased and stockpiled. The state has agreed to pave the street from curb-to-curb if residents of the street will pay for construction of the curbs, otherwise the street will have only a 20 foot center strip hard surfaced.

Petitions for the curbing will be circulated in the near future, it was announced.

The money for the project comes from a special state-aid fund for cities and may be used on street improvements which are not part of the state highway system. The street was finally approved for the improvement because of the heavy truck traffic it carries due to logging in the upper Willow Creek area.

The work will be done some time next summer.

First National Deposits Drop But Loans on Increase

Total year-end deposits of $788,569,011 were reported by the First National Bank of Portland, and $6,001,795 of this figure represents deposits at the Heppner branch, according to J H Bedford, manager.

Loans and discounts at the statewide bank amounted to $388,569,985 on December 31, with $3,188,434 of this total being reported by the local branch of First National.

Released at the same time were comparable figures for the branch on December 31, 1956. On that date, deposits were $6,752,090 and loans totaled $3,073,162.

The statewide deposit total represents a decrease of $20,241,980 over one year ago, and loans and discounts are off $43,282,200 over the figure reported at the close of 1956.

Bank loans have decreased throughout the nation, and it is reflected in lower commercial bank deposit totals, C B Stephenson, bank president said. The decline has been emphasized in the Pacific Northwest by the slower pace of the lumber industry, he declared.

Building permits issued by the City of Heppner during 1957, totaled $145,700 a check of the records revealed this week. They were down less than $5,000 from 1956 which indicates that construction-wise the year was good.

New buildings accounted for $87,500 of the total. The largest permit was issued to the Bank of Eastern Oregon for the construction of its new Heppner branch. It amounted to $37,000.

Continuing Need For 'Dimes' is Drive Emphasis

The 1958 March of Dimes campaign which runs from January 2 to January 31, marks the 20th year of service of the Infantile Paralysis Foundation.

Dimes contributed by the people of America during these 20 years have made it possible for the Foundation to point with pride to the success of an effective vaccine to prevent paralytic polio, to respiratory and rehabilitation centers which have been built, and are being built, to help restore severely disabled patients to useful living in their own communities, whose goal is Operation Comeback! These dimes have provided financial assistance to over 325,000 polio victims, financed the virus typing program and gamma globulin and Salk vaccine field trials, provided training for over 6,000 capable medical workers, although more professional hands and skills are urgently needed to meet the increasing demands of modern treatment.

Some may have the mistaken impression that because of the success of the vaccine contributions are no longer needed for work in the polio field. True, new polio cases are being drastically reduced but a bulwark is still needed against disease and disability in every community. In 1957 90 per cent of the patient care money was spent for victims stricken in earlier years. Only ten per cent was used for current cases.

The estimated need in 1958 for patient care alone totals $21,000,000.

According to Mrs Jack Loyd, county campaign director, many activities are planned in which local citizens will have an opportunity to cooperate.

Assisting Mrs Loyd throughout the county are the following committee members: County campaign treasurer, Mrs Keith Imus; county women's activity chairman, Mrs Gordon A White, Ione; Heppner campaign director, Earl Soward school collection, Gordon Pratt; special events, LaVerne Van Marter, Jr; movie and newspaper publicity, Mrs Elaine S George; telephone monitor, Mrs Jos B Hughes; business and labor and special gifts, Rev Merlin Zier; publicity, Mrs Tom Wilson; Hardman campaign director, Mrs Huston Leslie; Cecil, Mrs Fred McClintock; Lexington, Mrs Emma Breshers; Ione, Mrs Ruby Roberts; Boardman, Mrs Flossie Coats; Irrigon, Mrs Partlow.

Immediately prior to the banquet, the First National Bank will again sponsor a social hour which will be held at the Elks temple.

Saturday afternoon the Morrow County Cow Belles will hold their annual meeting at 2:30 in the Elks ladies lounge, Mrs Claud White, president has announced. She urges all members to be present.

A COUNTY MUSEUM? SUGGESTIONS AND HELP WANTED BY CHAIRMEN

Do the people of Morrow county want a county museum?

That question has been put directly up to the residents this week by the appointment of Mrs Ralph Thompson and Mrs Omar Rietmann as co-chairmen of a committee to develop a museum plan. The project was suggested during sessions of the Town and County Planning Conference.

The two women are both interested in developing such a museum and have been offered a great number of old time mementos which could well be used as the start for such an undertaking. What the chairmen would like to know from the people is whether they want such a museum, would they help to fill it with interesting old-time belongings such as furniture, costumes, dishes, dolls, etc which because of their age and historical value could belong in such a public place.

Gribble Named New Councilman

Lowell Gribble, co-owner of Inland Chemical company and a resident of Heppner for the past four years, Monday was appointed a member of the Heppner city council. He will fill the unexpired term of Erling Storro, who resigned late last year because he moved outside the city limits and could no longer serve.

Gribble was appointed by mayor W C Collins and attended his first council meeting Monday in his official capacity.

One of the major items of business transacted by the council Monday was the opening of bids for the purchase of 2,150 feet of water pipe to be used for the improvement of the city's distribution system. Seven bids were received for the supplying of 1150 feet of eight inch steel pipe and 1000 feet of four inch pipe. The bid was awarded to Pacific Waterworks Supply company of Portland with a bid of $1.81 per foot for eight inch, and $1.04 1/2 per foot for the four inch. Delivery is to be made within 30 to 60 days. The council had also asked for bids for five fire hydrants, but rejected the winner's bid for these because the bid did not conform to specifications. They will be purchased later.

The second lowest bid was made by Water Works Supply company of Seattle at $1.97 and $1.07 per foot.

Councilman Robert Penland suggested that the city investigate the possibility of renumbering all residences and business houses in town and placing numbers on all buildings. The city of Madras is currently considering such a program which calls for the city to purchase the numbers and install them. The cost would be covered by a one-month's extra charge of $1.00 which would be added to water bills.

At the present time less than half the houses and business buildings in town have numbers and many of them are wrong, making it very confusing for an outsider to find a location in town, and also giving the local fire department much difficulty in getting exact locations of fires.

The council agreed to investigate the proposal and make a decision later.

Nearly 18 Inches Of Rain in '57 Near Record

Morrow county, by the records of the Heppner weather station, just lived through its fourth wettest year in the 47 year history of the station, a check of records has revealed. During 1957 a total of 17.73 inches of rain fell here and several all-time records were broken.

Only three other years since 1910 have seen as much rain fall here as did during 1957. Those years were 1942 when the all-time high of 19.28 inches was recorded; 1948 with 18.22 inches, and 1912 when 18.64 inches fell. On the opposite end of the record sheet is the year 1939 when only 7.81 inches of moisture was recorded here. The 46 year average rainfall is 13.07 inches.

Two records fell during the year, however, when over two inches of rain fell in one day and more than four inches fell in one month. Neither had happened before during the 47 years that records have been kept.

As is usual, Heppner received more rain than did most other sections of the county where records are kept, but the whole area received one of its heaviest falls in years. At Gooseberry Leonard Carlson reported 15.50 inches for 1957, with 5.08 of that falling since Sept 1, the new crop year.

In the temperature department, Heppner also set a record during the year. In January an all-time below freezing record went by the boards when the mercury never climbed to freezing for 18 consecutive days. There had been longer cold spells, but they were broken by one or two days of warm temperatures. So far this winter 15 degrees has been the lowest temperature recorded here, making it one of the warmest in may years.

(Editor's note—winter isn't over yet, and no prognostication is made!)

The wet season and moderate temperatures give indication that the 1958 grain crop may again be excellent.

Farm Bureau Member Drive Opens Monday

Seven members of the Morrow County Farm Bureau were in Bend Jan 6 to attend a meeting to lay final plans for the organization's annual membership drive.

An organization meeting was held last night at the Harold Beach home and the drive will open Jan 13. It will close two days later with a meeting Jan 15 at the Gene Cutsforth home.

BEAUTY SHOP NOW IN NEW BUILDING

Lois' Beauty Shop has moved into a new building giving the business modern enlarged quarters, operator Mrs Ernie Winchester has revealed. Weather has prevented completion of the outside of the concrete structure, but the inside is now finished. Shop operators include Jo Keithley and Marge Gardner.

Mr and Mrs Earle Gilliam returned Sunday from Portland where Mrs Gilliam had undergone dental surgery.

Jack Loyd, manager of the Tum-A-Lum Lumber company, was installed Monday as new president of the Heppner-Morrow County Chamber of Commerce. He took over the duties of the office from Jack Bailey, who ascended to president of the organization at mid-year when former president Jack Angel left Heppner to go into business in Washington.

Other officers who will assist Loyd during the coming year are Harley Young, manager of Columbia Basin Electric Co-op, first vice president; Bruce Lindsay, second vice president; John Venard, assistant manager of the Heppner branch of the First National Bank of Portland, treasurer; and Gene Pierce, manager of the Heppner branch of the Bank of Eastern Oregon, secretary.

Also officially inducted into office by installing officer Frank Turner were four new directors, Robert Abrams, Keith Imus, Joe H Stewart, and Victor Kreimeyer. Monday's installing meeting was conducted by vice president Jack Flug, in the absence of the outgoing president.

The new president has been a member of the chamber for over 10 years and has served in various capacities in the organization. He has headed several committees and was very active in the promotion of the chamber's field lighting fund drive three years ago. He has been a member of the board of directors for the past two years.

In accepting the position, Loyd expressed the belief that the organization could expect another active year in 1958 and pledged his efforts to make it one of the chamber's best years. He announced that he would make standing committee appointments within a short time.

City's Fire Loss Shows Big Drop During Past Year

The Heppner fire department answered a total of 20 calls during 1957, seven more than during the previous year, but loss from fire, smoke and water was less than 10 per cent of 1956, fire chief C A Ruggles reported this week.

Total loss which was completely covered by insurance amounted to only $1,244.59, the smallest in any recent year.

Seventeen of the department's 20 calls were general alarms and three were silent calls. Nine buildings were involved in the calls, the remainder being to control grass fires. Property valued at $79,007.91 was at risk in the building fires while an unestimated amount of property was at risk in the various grass fires. The greatest loss was sustained at the Wyman apartments late in November where damage to building and contents has been estimated at $1,000. This same blaze resulted in serious burns to an occupant of the apartment, Miss Wyma Hoxworth. She was the first person to suffer injury or death from a fire in Heppner in almost six years.

During the previous year fire loss amounted to $14,062 and in 1956 damage was $5,404.

During the past year the Heppner department spent slightly over $1,000 on new equipment, all of it for a new air horn alarm system which will soon replace the present siren. Delivery is expected shortly on the remaining equipment needed for the new installation which will be air and battery powered to operate independently of utility power supply. When completed and placed in operation, the city's fire alarm system will be one of the most modern of any small city and will adequately advise firemen of an emergency. The present siren will be kept for standby use.

CHILI SUPPER SLATED

The Heppner P-TA will hold its annual chili supper Friday, Jan 10 at the school cafeteria prior to the Heppner-Ione basketball game. Serving will start at 5:30 and the menu will include either chili or tuna casserole, salad, pie and drink.

Bob Bryant spent Christmas with his mother, Mrs J W Espy, at Palouse, Washington.
